MacDonald to return to board?

by Arlene Surprenant
Wilmington selectmen delayed action Monday on a request from former board of appeals chairman Bruce MacDonald to rejoin the board. Selectmen had last year refused to reappoint MacDonald to the board.

MacDonald asked that he be considered for the current vacancy on the board. Veteran member Joe McMenimen had stepped down in February, two months before his term expired.

In his February 29 letter to selectmen, MacDonald asked to be appointed for the remaining months and reappointed "at the proper time." He added his service as a former member of that board, the board of selectmen, and the finance committee over a 30 year span "would make me the best qualified candidate for the position."

Selectman Chester Bruce favored MacDonald's appointment. He said, with several "hot issues" currently before the appeals board, a person with MacDonald's experience was needed.

"We've lost an awful lot of good talent on that board," he noted.

Chairman Mark Haldane said he had been approached by two other residents for the position. He added it was traditional for an associate member to move up and fill the vacancy. In the end, the board went along with Haldane's suggestion to take up the issue at the next meeting when a full board was expected to be present. Selectman Robert Cain was not in attendance.

Eviction case in court Friday

by Arlene Surprenant
An eviction case involving the Wilmington Housing Authority and a tenant of one of the low-cost homes under the board's jurisdiction will go to trial this Friday. The tenant, Evelyn Cotto of Virginia Road, attempted to be heard at Tuesday's board meeting. Members said they couldn't talk about the case because it was in litigation. Chairman Tom Siracusa added, however, "we'll try to work this out."

Court records on the case date back to June 1990. In August 1991 Cotto, a welfare mother of four, was ordered by the court to vacate the premises and in September she was served with an eviction notice. Cotto appealed the decision and has remained in her home.

Former Executive Director Ella Belmore had taken Cotto to court because of her failure to pay back rent. According to court records, at one time Cotto owed as much as $3,440. Cotto claims the amount is incorrect. She charged that the figures were probably changed by the former administration. John Durand, Special Programs Administrator for the Massachusetts Union of Public Housing Tenants, claims the former administrator taped a higher rent card over the actual card and used that in court. He noted the court ordered Cotto to pay only $2,000 to the authority.

Cotto told this paper she had been paying $142 a month in rent since October 1991 with a check that comes directly to the authority from the welfare office as protective payment. She added Belmore had been looking for $300 a month plus an extra $150, a figure which would take over half her welfare check. In addition, she claims that the former administrator never cashed the checks.

Belmore was reluctant to discuss the case until a decision is reached in court.

"I really don't want to jeopardize the case by any statements at this point," she said. She did say, however, there had been correspondence with Cotto about an increase and added, as to the other charges, "anything done was through the advice of our lawyer."

Cotto said the housing authority, under new administrator Ken Dorrance, "wanted to make a deal" with her and settle the issue. That deal included fixing her shed and coming up with the $3,000 that she claims she never owed.

"They were going to work out a deal with me. Now I don't know what's going on. It seems they want to get back at Mrs. Belmore through me," said Cotto.

"This whole situation has been an abuse of her," said Durand, adding that it would be less embarrassing to everyone to settle the issue and not pursue it in court.

Dorrance refused to discuss the particulars of the case because it was in litigation. He did confirm he wanted to deal "in good faith" with Cotto and twice tried to send her a registered letter. But Cotto failed to pick up the letter and it was returned to the authority, said Dorrance. He declined to say what was in the letter.

The director said any negotiated settlement would have to be fair to the other five tenants who were also in arrears, but who managed somehow to pay their back rent. He maintained under the welfare voucher program it would take Cotto four years to pay off the money and that would be unfair to the housing authority.

Dorrance noted he had inherited this situation which has been ongoing for a number of years. He pointed out Cotto's rent is based on income received and said the tenant is already receiving a state subsidy. He said he would be willing to work out a fair repayment plan if there was a hardship, but he questioned if Cotto was "dealing in good faith."

"My response to her is she's known for several years this amount was due," said Dorrance.

Road hazard

The earliest of spring flowers, the pothole (Thumpus horribilus), has been blooming in many locations around town. One of the more vicious potholes was found on Main Street, right at the town line of Tewksbury and Wilmington.

Lose a hubcap?

How many people hit the pothole? Count the hubcaps. If you include the one (broken) in the photographer's wife's trunk, it's 16.

Draft warrant has 46 articles

by Arlene Surprenant
A total of 46 articles for the April 24 town meeting was brought before the Wilmington selectmen at Monday's meeting of their board. The warrant and the number of articles will be finalized in the next two weeks and presented for the board's approval on March 22.

Of the 46 articles, 24 are non-petitioned and 22 are petitioned articles, said Town Manager Michael Cairn. Of the non-petitioned articles, five ask to appropriate money for capital equipment or capital outlay items like computers for the school system and a new furnace for town hall. One non-petitioned article seeks to transfer $308,000 from the previous year's surplus in the overlay account to pay for the NESWC refinancing. Another asks voters to authorize the town manager to sell stored capital equipment at auction to obtain more funds for the town's Capital Stabilization Fund.

The Sewer Funding Advisory

Board is sponsoring an article which will ask the legislature to change the betterment formula to make it more flexible. If it passes, future sewer projects would go before town meeting voters, who would have the final say on how to split the construction cost between the homeowner, whose property would be "bettered" by the sewer, and the taxpayer. The taxpayer's share could be anywhere from zero to 100 percent of the cost. Other non-petitioned articles ask voters to do such things as pay for Memorial and Veteran's Day parades, accept six town ways, and grant easements to Reading Light and New England Telephone.

The petitioned articles seek mainly to allow residents to purchase various parcels of town-owned land, to change the zoning bylaws, or to rezone certain parcels throughout town. One article asks voters to change the recall law to require substantiation before being able to recall an official from office.

Good Guy deadline April 2

The "Good Guy" Committee is looking for a deserving person in our community to honor as this year's "Good Guy" recipient. This event, the 27th annual, is designed to honor that person (non-political) who goes beyond the normal call of duty to make our community a better place in which to live.

If you know of anyone whom you feel should be deserving of this award, please help the Committee by submitting your nomination, with the reasons you feel this individual should be so rewarded, to the "Good Guy" Committee, P.O. Box 147, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Deadline for entries is Friday, April 2, 1993 and the award will be presented at a banquet on Friday, May 14, 1993 at the K of C Hall in Wilmington.

Chairperson: Bob DiPalma and Jim Hachey, 1992 recipients.

Band parents seek new uniforms

The parents of members of the Wilmington High School Band have come up with an innovative approach to fundraising.

They're sending out letters with paper clips. The paper clips represent what is holding the band uniforms together.

The letter tells of the need for new uniforms. The present uniforms are 12 years old. New uniforms would cost about $250 apiece, a total of $30,000.

The band enjoys the reputation of being the best band in the Merrimack Valley. The president of the Band Parents Organization, Bob Cunio, hopes to insure that the band's appearance will match their fine quality of performance.

The letter closes with a p.s.: If you find that you cannot help us at this time, please send this paper clip back to us before the St. Patrick's Day parade.

Contributions may be sent to Band Parents, P.O. Box 773, Wilmington.

Food donations can go in mailbox

Dear Larz,

The Wilmington Postal Lettercarriers would appreciate if you would remind your readers that the Wilmington Community Food Bank is still in need of weekly donations in order to keep their stock at a level which will meet the needs of the Wilmington community. The Wilmington Lettercarriers, are committed to picking up your donations from your mail box on a daily basis. One or two cans donated by each family truly amounts to a great deal of food for the needs of the community. It may seem like a small donation at the time but during the course of the year these donations amount to tons of food. This is not just a holiday project but a year round commitment for those in need.

We would like to thank all of our patrons who have contributed to the food bank through the Post Office. Many patrons have made this a weekly habit. We would like to increase the number of weekly participants.

The Wilmington lettercarriers would like to challenge every person in town to place at least two canned goods in their mailbox weekly for the rest of 1993.

Sincerely,
Wilmington Lettercarriers

Stronger action taken on failed septic system

by Arlene Surprenant
Homeowner Richard Doucette, of Sheriden Road may have his property condemned by the Wilmington Board of Health if steps aren't taken to correct an overflowing septic system. According to health officials and concerned neighbors, the problem has been ongoing for five to seven years.

The system had been repaired at least five years ago, according to health officials, but poor soil may have contributed to the current failure. The owner had been ordered to pump out the system until a way could be found to fund a repair. However, neighbors told the Board of Health Monday that obviously wasn't working because raw sewage was floating to the surface on their property and creating an odor in the neighborhood. They said they were concerned with the health of children in the neighborhood and added there were seven people living in the home.

Health Director Greg Erickson said the problem may be that the owner isn't pumping out the system often enough. The board noted it was about time something was done to correct the situation, even if it meant beginning condemnation proceedings and placing a lien on the home so the health department could have the system pumped out.

The board voted unanimously to order the owner to abate the nuisance immediately or face a $20 a day fine and to cite the owner for repeated violation of Title V septic regulations, which is punishable by a $50 a day fine. They also recommended that the system be pumped out in "a timely manner," which, they said, translates into a weekly basis. The board is also moving ahead with condemnation proceedings which includes a public hearing on the issue April 5.

"It's a terrible position to be put in, especially when you live next door to these people," said one neighbor.

"It's going to be resolved one way or another," said Erickson.

MWRA to look at rate relief

by Arlene Surprenant
In an update to Town Manager Michael Caira, Wilmington Water and Sewer Supt. Paul Niman said MWRA (Massachusetts Water Resources Authority) officials feel water flow alone is not an equitable way to assess water use. Along with flow, a town's population, solids, and strength of sewage should also be taken into consideration, said the MWRA.

Niman was one of several local officials present at the March 2 MWRA meeting to discuss that agency's accomplishments and the need for rate relief. Wilmington officials feel the town is being overcharged unfairly because its sewer assessment is based on the total population in town and not on the flow generated by the 600 of so ratepayers hooked up to the sewer.

Niman informed Caira the MWRA Advisory Board has formed a Rate Methodology Committee to look at the components of a fair rate. The committee is expected to come up with a change in the method of assessing a town. Niman said, too, MWRA officials confirmed meters are in place and working. However, they said some difficulties regarding peak flows have to be straightened out so there are "no immediate plans" to use the meter data.

Niman added he told the officials until the meter data is used to determine actual sewer flows, "there will continue to be a perception that communities such as Wilmington are being assessed unfairly."

Carol Nitchie Xerox Award winner

The 1993 Xerox Award goes to Carol Nitchie, a junior and honor roll student at Wilmington High School. This award is presented by the Xerox Corporation in the area of Humanities/Social Sciences. Xerox Award winners are selected on the basis of scholarship in the humanities or social sciences, leadership, and community services.

Carol will receive her Xerox Award during a presentation at Convocation. She will also be eligible to apply for a special Xerox Scholar program at the University of Rochester in Rochester, N.Y.

The Xerox Award in the Humanities/Social Sciences is designed to recognize and reward the academic achievements of outstanding students and to emphasize the importance of a broad educational background in preparing students for future careers. This awards program recognizes students at high schools in all 50 states.

Carol is a member of the Medical Careers Club, the Marching Band, and does volunteer work at the Winchester Hospital and Wilmington United Methodist Church. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nitchie at 11 Fairmeadow Road.

HOW TO DEDUCT MOVING EXPENSES

The basic rule to make your move deductible is to get a new job at least 35 miles further from your old home than the old job was, and to work at least 39 weeks during the 12 months after you move into the new work location - though it doesn't have to be for just one employer. FYI, new tax proposals have been made to increase the required distance to 60 miles and put a maximum on the overall deductible amount.

If you qualify, you'll be able to write off - with some limitations - travel expenses en route to the new location; everything it costs to move your personal effects and household goods; the cost of house hunting trips before you move, if you already have a job; a month's worth of temporary living quarters in the new location after you have a job; the costs of selling an old house or getting a new one; and the cost of settling an old lease and getting a new one.

There's another plus: with the same qualifications on distance and jobs, you're also permitted to roll over the gain on one residence to the other, tax-deferred, even if you haven't lived in the old house long enough to qualify under ordinary circumstances.

What can you deduct? Count on us to help you find everything you qualify for. See the pros at Joyce K. Brisbois, C.P.A. 404 Main St., Suite #1 Wilmington, MA 01887 (508) 658-5034

CAN YOU AFFORD TO NOT TALK TO ME?

Most of the people I talk to often get their money in a lump sum. Either they inherit money from the death of a relative, retire and get a lump sum pension distribution, change jobs and receive a 401(K) distribution, or discover that when they renew a CD, the new rate is too low.

There was a time when you could rely on bank CDs for attractive, risk free returns. That time has passed.

If you are facing this situation, there are many investment alternatives that you may not have considered. Investments, such as municipal bond funds and annuities that can even help you avoid or defer paying taxes on interest income for years, are options you may want to consider. Why not give me a call to arrange an appointment. I do not charge fees to discuss the various options available to you.

frankly speaking

by Kevin John Sowyrda

(Second in an occasional series on the candidates for municipal office in Wilmington.)

When making the point that every vote counts you won't get any disagreement from local selectman candidate Tom Siracusa. Back in the fray for a second shot, Siracusa said his razor-thin loss in last year's election has prepared him for a better campaign in 1993 which he says will quickly distinguish itself as the most issues-oriented of the pack.

Siracusa echoes a complaint most commonly made against state and national candidates; that municipal elections in Wilmington have degenerated into "races of vagueness" and that local candidates should be challenged in this post-Ross Perot era to specify proposals helping people; this in a community still searching for that light we've read about at the end of the long, dark recession tunnel.

Nonetheless, Siracusa isn't dumping the traditional and broad campaign theme. There's always one sentence summarizing the candidate's intentions. "In a nut shell, I've become disgusted with the level of politics in this town. If there's such a thing as government being too political and personal we've written the book on it here in Wilmington," said Siracusa.

Siracusa may not have known what he was getting into in 1990 when Governor Weld's office tapped the local Republican stalwart to be Weld's appointee to the Wilmington Housing Authority. "I worked on the Weld campaign and was honored to be chosen," said Siracusa, a systems engineer for Dynamics Research Corporation. "But I guess I was naive about politics because I had no idea how bitter people could become about the issues."

Siracusa had a crash course in Politics 101 when he engaged in a political version of mortal combat with the housing authority's executive director. They battled over competence issues and the role of political favoritism in housing senior citizens. "When I saw first hand that a government agency was placing eighty-year-old people according to who they knew instead of their needs and a fair waiting list I decided that there was something very wrong with how we run things here," said Siracusa.

The housing authority chairman said he has no regrets in his decision to fire executive director Ella Belmore and said it should instill in voters a confidence in his abilities as a tough decision maker. "The easy thing in this town is to close your eyes and play the game. The tough route is to change things," he said.

As for those specifics, they are both novel and controversial. Speaking as if he's researched his platform for the past year, Siracusa affords an agenda ranging from economic development to municipally coordinated public health care. Maybe he's a local policy wonk or just a unique candidate tired of "campaigns as usual."

Here's a sampling of the Siracusa platform:

First, without batting an eye Siracusa would ask local physicians to organize themselves into a non-profit corporation to provide a weekly, free health-care clinic for unemployed local residents. "We watch Hillary Clinton talking about health care reform, and that's fine, but maybe we can do a few things in our own backyard today," said Siracusa. "We have a great food pantry, why not a health clinic for the same people in need?"

Second, the candidate wants to do nothing less than rewrite the job description for the second highest municipal official in town. "I've got a new assignment for the assistant town manager," said Siracusa. "His new job will be economic development and recruiting businesses for the thousands of vacant square footage we have in our industrial parks." Siracusa predicts an upsurge in the economy and said that "smart towns" will prepare for it by recruiting corporations today.

Third, and most controversial of all, Siracusa is targeting a municipal sacred cow — police details. "I respect the officers but with over 1,000 people out of work in Wilmington why not research how we could give the details to the unemployed," said Siracusa. The candidate said his proposal would require special legislation as well as a personal political consequence. "I guess I can kiss goodbye that police union endorsement," quipped Siracusa.

But that support might be earned back when the men in blue learn Siracusa supports increasing funds for public safety. Siracusa said he wants to charge the permanent building committee with the assignment of researching how Wilmington can build a new public safety building as well as a fire department substation for North Wilmington. "We haven't done the best of jobs in planning our capital needs and the fire station for North Wilmington is a big safety issue we should be talking more about," said Siracusa.

Siracusa said his "platform of specifics" is garnering support from some of the better names in the Wilmington community including Former selectman Rocco V. Depasquale, who will publicly endorse the candidate.

Echoing his campaign theme, Siracusa said the local election is important because people need to select leaders who will "bring back to municipal government the old rule that you can agree to disagree, without being disagreeable." Siracusa said the town's government is handicapped by its own obsession with tribal feuding and that as a result there are "no solutions being provided for our problems." Said Siracusa, "I'm offering solutions and I'm going to elevate the level of debate."

A ten year Wilmington resident, Siracusa resides at Elwood Street with his wife Bess and four children.

Briefly in Politics . . .

Are there any regrets or second thoughts? As he leaves the theatre of local politics and concludes a dramatic career spanning 16 years, School Committeeman Phil Fenton, Sr. said he's "ready to enjoy the life of a family man who has no where to go on Wednesday nights."

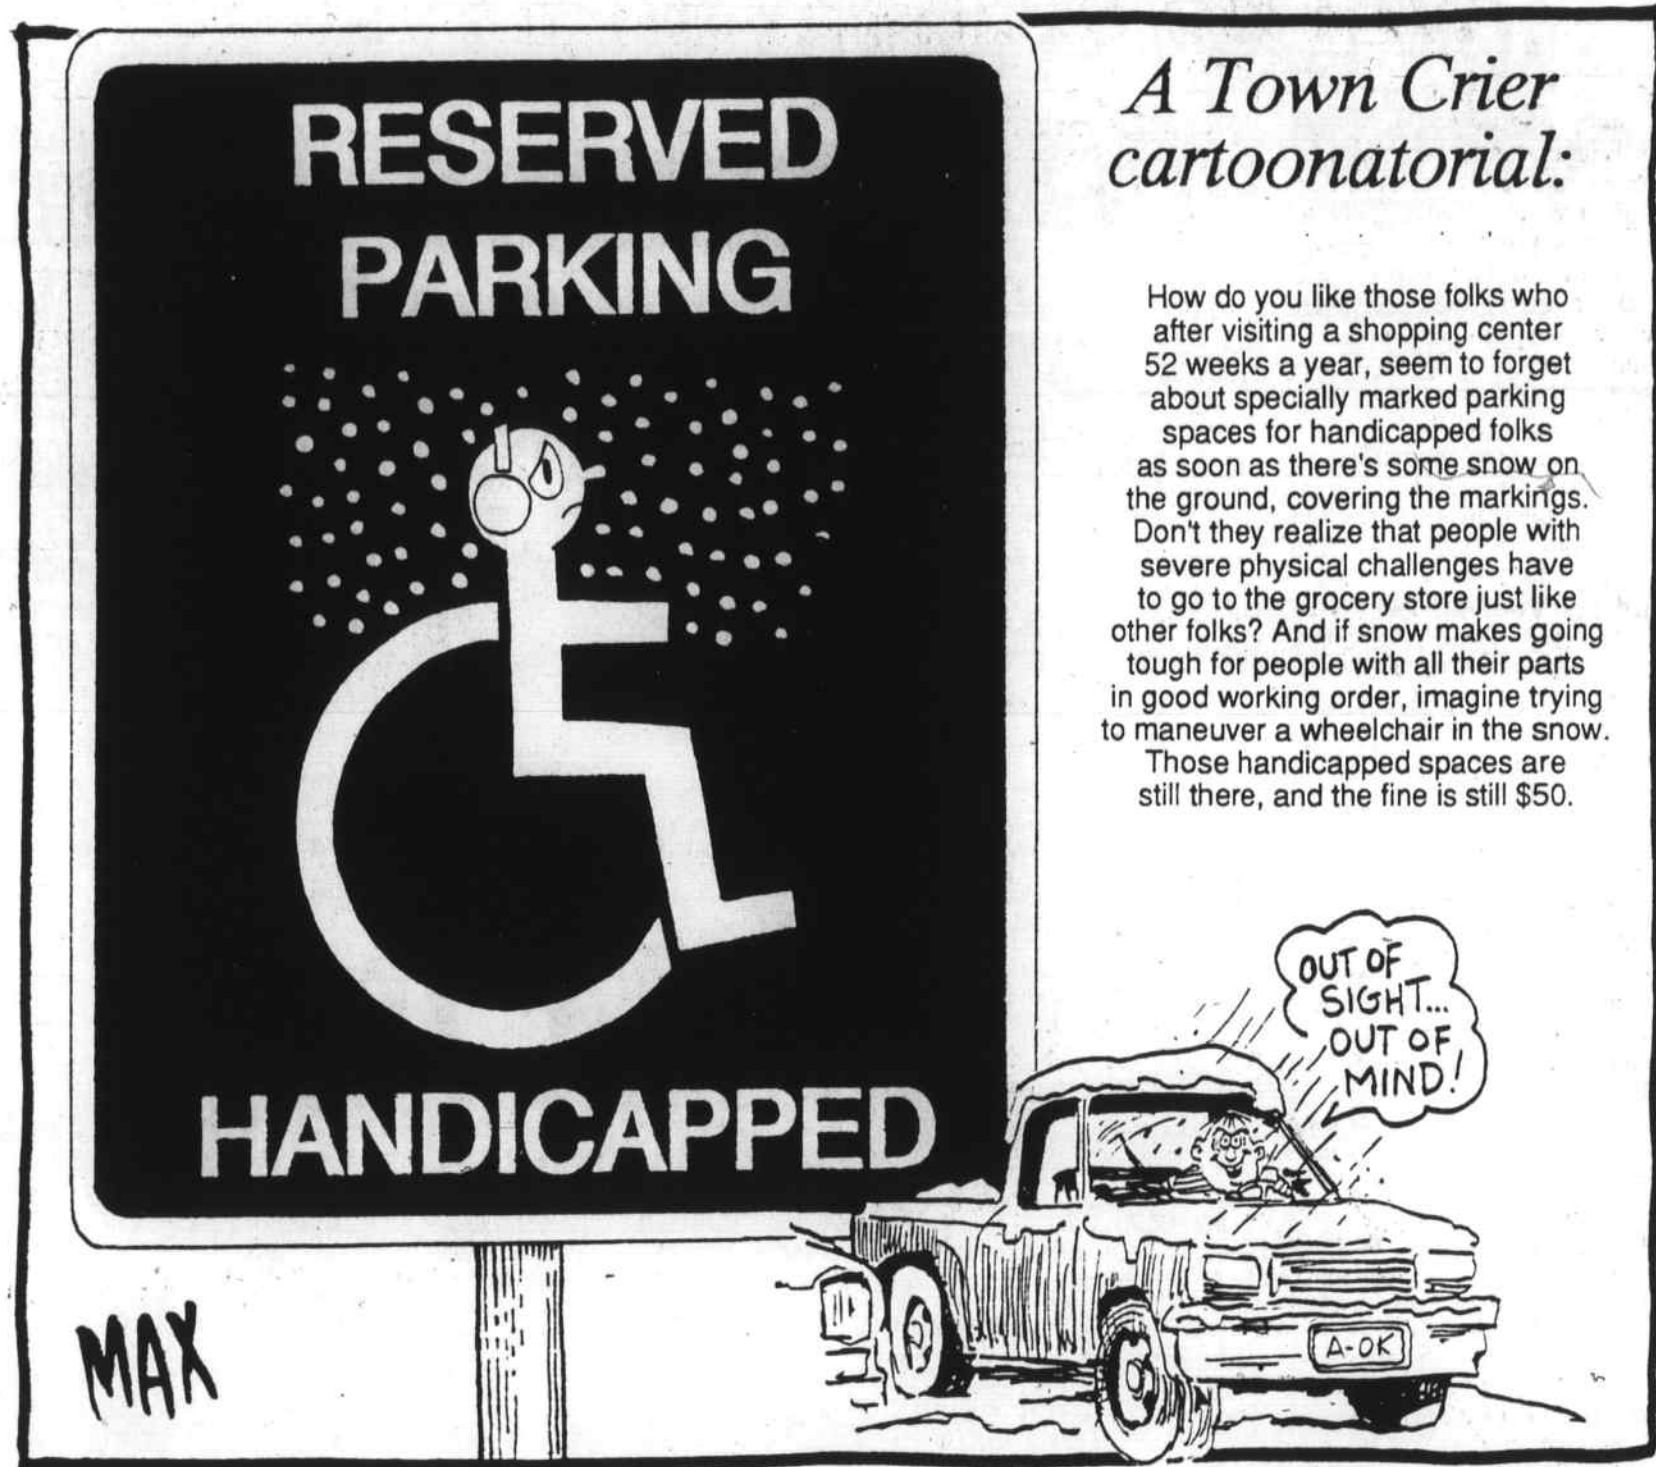

Correction . . . Fenton added he has "plenty of places to go on Wednesday nights" with his family and said watching "Duggie Howser and doing homework with my daughters" will be a refreshing relief from the "chaos" (yes, his word) of the school committee.

Fenton said he'd sum up his career as admittedly one of agony and defeats, but fortunately more satisfaction and pleasure. "The pleasure comes each June when I watch the kids graduate and the satisfaction comes knowing that I've contributed not only to my own kids' education but also to the rest of the community," said Fenton.

As for the agonies, Fenton said the most prominent is obvious. "Losing my election by one vote in 1989 was less than enjoyable," and "seeing every superintendent since Dr. Pierce fired by the school committee is another agony," said Fenton.

The veteran board member said he has high hopes for the new school chief, Gerry O'Donnell, and predicted that Wilmington may go the path of Boston someday and consider an appointed school committee. "I never thought I'd support the idea but I think elected school committees have lost the confidence of most voters," said Fenton.

..... Opinion

A Town Crier cartoonatorial:

How do you like those folks who after visiting a shopping center 52 weeks a year, seem to forget about specially marked parking spaces for handicapped folks as soon as there's some snow on the ground, covering the markings. Don't they realize that people with severe physical challenges have to go to the grocery store just like other folks? And if snow makes going tough for people with all their parts in good working order, imagine trying to maneuver a wheelchair in the snow. Those handicapped spaces are still there, and the fine is still $50.

Lack of sidewalks a major problem

by Bill Conlon

The heavy snows this winter have highlighted a problem. Tewksbury has very few sidewalks, and the few that exist aren't kept clear. The blame falls on both the public and private sectors.

The Tewksbury Planning Board for years gave builders a waiver on sidewalk installation. Subdivision rules require sidewalks on both sides of new roads, but the board routinely granted waivers. Why bother? If there were no connecting walks in the area, they argued, then the new sidewalk would begin and end nowhere. Why make a builder pay for such a "useless" subdivision feature?

There are many reasons why. Ask a mother pushing a full baby carriage if she'd like to have a sidewalk. Ask a senior citizen going to the store. Or the joggers who are constantly dodging traffic.

The planners also said the state refuses to allow sidewalks along Route 38, but that one sounds pretty weak. I'd suggest building the sidewalks, then let the state justify tearing them up. The outcry would make short work of the state's demolition plans, I'll wager. As Admiral Grace Hopper said, sometimes it's easier to apologize than it is to get permission.

An account was established in town to pay for the construction of sidewalks, funded by builders. When the planning board waives the sidewalk requirement in a new project, the money is set aside for building walkways where the planners feel they are needed.

Planning Director Sean Sullivan said the sidewalk account has $10,060 on hand and another $6,602 committed, plus a number of subdivisions now in the works should see another $10,000 by the end of spring. Once the Heath Brook Plaza lawsuits are settled, the town has promises of an additional $59,000 for the construction of sidewalks, Sullivan said.

WILMINGTON

The March 9, 1983 edition of the Town Crier noted that: A bill which would allow the town to allocate money on the rebuilding of Ballardvale Street was passed by the House of Representatives and would move on to the Senate. Rep. Miceli predicted that it would reach the governor's desk within a week.

Harold Garrett of Ledgewood Road was named acting principal of WHS to replace Dr. George Eisenberg who resigned.

Dynamics Research Corp received two large defense contracts.

The March 9, 1983 edition of the Town Crier of Tewksbury noted that:

A non-binding vote concerning voters' feelings on a possible bond exemption override of Proposition 2 1/2 limits would be among the 48 articles to go before the annual town meeting.

A major seminar on the impact of Sunday openings for retail stores would be conducted by the Northern Middlesex Chamber of Commerce and Industry at Tewksbury's Holiday Inn on March 31.

Dick Adams, Sr. of Deering Drive announced his candidacy for a seat on the board of selectmen.

Several residents from the Navillus, Kennedy and Seneca Road area appeared before the board of public works. The board listened to the woes of residents who said were brought on by the construction of the new Heartland Warehouse.

Missy Riddle of Main Street, Tewksbury was awarded her driver's license.

Six TMHS girls enrolled in the Distributive Education Club of America took awards in a regional competition and were pictured with their certificates: Julie Ferreira, Karen May, Sharon Faldasz, Pam Kearns, Lisa DiAmaco and Lisa McCarthy.

So the dismal sidewalk situation in Tewksbury is looking up. But the town is only half the problem. YOU are the other half.

Where sidewalks exist, it is the obligation of the property owner to keep the footpaths clear. When it snows, not only must you clear your own walk and driveway, but you must clear the sidewalks in front of your home or business as well. In places where the landowner is absent (probably off to Florida for the winter) it's your civic duty to go those extra few yards and provide continuity to the path. Clear sidewalk, interrupted by a snow-covered stretch, is the same as no sidewalk at all. People would step out into the street to avoid that snowy stretch, and that defeats the purpose. It may mean running your snowblower a few minutes more, but it would help.

Sean Sullivan said the town planners will be discussing ways to spend the sidewalk account this spring, meaning Tewksbury will finally be getting some walkways. Many of the walks are going to be built near schools, but anything done along Main Street would be a big improvement.

The next front in the battle is convincing the public to keep their own stretch of sidewalk clear. Not everybody drives, you know!

A voice silenced

Town meetings in Wilmington will never be the same. Bill Belbin is gone. He died on Saturday, suffering a heart attack while shoveling snow.

Wilson J. Belbin was a fixture at town meetings. He would usually speak from the position of a senior citizen on a fixed income who was concerned about his taxes rising. His deep, gravelly voice would call out, "Mr. Moderator" at least a dozen times in the average town meeting.

A retired carpenter, he had been active at the Wilmington Senior Citizens' Drop-In Center, and was past chairman of the Council on Aging.

His participation was symbolic of American democracy — a common man who cared about his community and exercised his right of free speech for the betterment of the community.

Local boy Sean Farrell will be student ambassador

by Arlene Surprenant

A lucky eighth grade student from Wilmington will be traveling to Russia this summer as part of the People to People Student Ambassador program.

Boutwell Street resident Sean Farrell, a student at the West Intermediate School, will be leaving July 5 for a 21-day trip to Russia to learn more about the Russian culture and the people of that vast country. According to Sean, he was contacted by program officials in September asking if he would like to apply for the program, which was first established by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956. After filing out his application in December, Sean went through the interview process in January and was chosen as one of 27 representatives in the Middlesex County delegation. There are also other delegations from 26 different states.

Participation is based on Iowa test scores and student records. But it is also based on the youngsters themselves.

"They were looking for people who might work well in the program," says this articulate and enthusiastic youngster.

Sean has already begun preparing for his big trip, which will take him for three days each to St. Petersburg and Moscow and for seven days to Russian youth camps to interact with Russian students in games of volleyball, singing, dancing, and other sports activities.

Part of the itinerary in the cities will be visits to museums, churches, and historical sights as well as visits with actual Russian families. The students and their three chaperones will stay at hotels as well as at dorms at the camps.

To help him prepare, Sean's parents Deborah and Ronald gave him a book that covers the Russian language and several necessary phrases. He also received a book on Russian history from the program and is boning up on current events in Russia through local newspapers.

"I read the newspapers all the time. It interests me how Communism is so different from Democracy," says Sean. He goes on to explain that social studies is his favorite subject.

"Now with all the changes (in Russia), there are probably more people that are not as fortunate as us because the government is really not that stable," says Sean.

Each month Sean is attending an orientation meeting with the other students in his delegation. The meetings not only prepare the youngsters for the upcoming trip but also encourage them to intermingle and get to know each other. A special cookout is planned for the end of June as a culminating activity.

At the meetings, the students are encouraged to get as much as they can get out of this unique opportunity. For example, even though they can bring snacks from home for the bus and train rides from one locale to the other, they also are asked to eat all the native food that is served there. They are told that many of the Russian youth they will meet have been taught some English, but it would be a courtesy to speak to them as much as possible in their own language.

One requirement of the program is that each student ambassador keep a day by day journal and take photographs which can later be shared with fellow students and local civic organizations which help sponsor the trip. Students are also given a high school or college credit for their participation in the program.

"I can't wait for July to come. I'd like to see the churches at St. Petersburg; I'm also interested in making new friends at the youth camps," says Sean. As far as what he most hopes to learn from his experience, Sean concludes, "I hope to realize how different cultures develop in comparison to ours."

Sean Farrell points to Moscow, where he will travel this summer.

WHA may proceed with Houghton Road home

Questions about town-owned land on Houghton Road cropped up at Tuesday night's meeting of the Wilmington Housing Authority.

The housing authority has been trying for years to build a low income rental home on the site. Though town meeting gave approval to transfer the parcel to the authority, the WHA never took possession of the land, partly because of the need for a title search and partly because the state never approved the project. The board's attorney Bob Peterson is currently conducting the search, said board members.

Executive Director Ken Dorrance gave an update on the property saying the state's Executive Office of Communities and Development turned down the board's petition for funding for the project. He explained, however, that the property could be developed through a new program outlined in the Housing Act of 1992 which lets housing authorities build their own homes. Dorrance said, in order to fund the project, the WHA could use the land as collateral.

Dorrance said a full engineering report had already been done on the site and he would be reviewing that report as well as further information being provided by HUD (Housing and Urban Development).

Help sought to cover tuition

Tuition for the trip comes to $3,575. According to Sean, his parents and relatives as well as his own money from working as a newscaster for the Boston Globe will fund approximately fifty percent of the total cost. The rest of the money, which is due Monday, March 15, will hopefully come from outside organizations, schools, and town departments.

Some groups like the Sons of Italy and the local police department have already made contributions, said Sean. The West Intermediate PAC has organized a can and bottle drive through this Friday to help defray expenses. If you would like to help, bring your clean cans and bottles to the West this week or make a contribution to Sean and his family.

Jeff Murphy to perform March 20 at Carnegie Hall

Jeff Murphy, son of Joseph and Catherine Murphy of Gunderson Road, Wilmington, will be performing at the world famous theater, Carnegie Hall in New York City Saturday, March 20, as a member of the Tufts University Singing Group, the "Beetzebubs."

The Tufts Group, along with the Harvard University "Krokodiles," captured the Eastern Regional Collegiate Competition, sponsored by Streetlight Productions, titled "The Road to Carnegie Hall," in the Semi-Final Round held recently at Wellesley College.

College groups from the University of Pennsylvania, University of Rochester, Connecticut College and Skidmore College, along with Tufts and Harvard competed in the Semi-Final Round to earn the right to join the other Regional Finalists, the University of California at Berkley, and Duke University in the Finals to be held at the performing arts theater in New York.

Jeff Murphy is a 1988 graduate of Wilmington High School, where he was an active member of the school's music program as a percussionist, performing with the marching band, concert orchestra and the jazz rock ensemble.

During his four years at WHS, Jeff received many music honors, including four time selection to the Northeast Districts, three time All-State selection, and an All-East selection as a junior. He was also a member of the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra for two years, where he toured and performed in Japan in commemoration of the 30th anniversary of the group.

During his senior year, Jeff was honored as a nominee selection to the McDonald's High School All American Band, selection to the Sunkist Fiesta Bowl Honor Band in Phoenix, Arizona, as well as the University of Mass. Senior Honor Band. He was also awarded a scholarship to perform in the Tanglewood Institute Young Musicians Summer Program.

Jeff is attending Tufts and New England Conservatory of Music where he is pursuing a five year, double degree program majoring in English and music.

EARRING DYNAMICS ETC.
1875 Main St., Rte. 38, Tewksbury
(508) 851-8255

If something sounds too good to be true, it usually is... but, not this time. Welcome to Earring Dynamics Etc. This shop is Jennifer Braisted's latest entrepreneurial venture, although she's no stranger to the jewelry business. Ten years ago she owned six shops in Maine.

What's so special about Earring Dynamics? "Women can come in and afford this stuff," says Jennifer. "I go to New York and do all my own buying, name-brand overstocks, odd lots, some one-of-a-kind pieces... really beautiful jewelry." The best part is, she sells everything for 50 to 75% below the retail price!

Earring Dynamics sells quality costume jewelry... earrings, bracelets, necklaces, etc. They also do ear piercing (only $7.50 for the earrings, piercing and ear care solution). How about a "Box Earring Party"? What's that you ask? Gather a group of your friends, Jennifer will supply the earrings (a big box of about 200 pairs), and have fun while you sell them... at home, at work, anywhere! The hostess gets credit toward purchases at Earring Dynamics. Gift certificates are also available.

What's next for Jennifer? "Within the next year I'll be franchising Earring Dynamics. It'll take time, and be hard, but if something is too easy, it's not rewarding."

Earring Dynamics is open Monday thru Friday: 10-8; Saturday: 9-4. They're located at 1875 Main St., Rte. 38, Tewksbury - between Batter Up Sports Cards and Baystate Electronics (across from the airport).

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

This letter is easier written once, than if I had to repeat it several times. You have all heard for years of our dear Indian family in South Dakota on the Cherry Creek Reservation. Lorraine is now 25 years old and has two adorable children of her own. She became Louise's foster child in the World Changers program when she was only eight years old. She was raised by a wonderful grandmother, Doris Ward, following her mother's remarriage.

Lorraine's sister, Jenni, was born of that marriage. She was very proud and happy to have a little sister. She mentioned her in every letter. So it came as a great shock to us at this Christmastime to hear that 15-year-old Jenni had been missing from home since December 2. When we called back in mid January and heard she had not yet been found we were greatly concerned for all the family and for Lorraine who is expecting a baby in March. Life on this Dakota reservation is not easy. It is a 200 mile round trip for Lorraine to go to the hospital and she has been hospitalized twice during this pregnancy.

It is a 60 mile round trip for her daughter, eight-year-old Cherish Mae, to attend school. Four year old MJ (Melvin James) attends a kindergarten six miles from home. The night Jenni disappeared she had gone to visit a girl friend and had never arrived home. Temperatures in South Dakota fall to 30 degrees below zero. I do not know any details of the circumstances, the weather, the hour, why no one drove her home — whatever, but on February 9, more than two months after her disappearance, her frozen body was found in the area of the reservation baseball park. A shortcut perhaps? A snow squall or sub zero temperatures alone, I don't know. I only know a pretty, 15-year-old Sioux Indian girl has been tragically taken from a loving family.

Although we never met Jenni we too feel the loss when we look at the recent school photo, taken only in October of 1992, and recall Lorri's letters, and phone calls — always "You should see how big my sister is now. She's getting so grown up!" Once someone said to me, "Life is never easy." How true this is, and how much truer it is on Indian Reservations in South Dakota. The view outside my window is a picture book of New England winter. Although I don't care for winter, from inside looking out it is quite beautiful here with just enough snow clinging to the pines, little Juncos and finches at the feeder while frozen snow glistens in the cold sunshine.

Last year Lorri lost a baby girl in March. She was very happy to learn this expected baby is also a girl. She almost lost her twice. In December her sister disappeared and her elderly great-grandmother died. Now as her baby's birth approaches she and her family are hit with this great loss. So please pray with us for the entire family. Thank you for caring.

Most sincerely,
Pauline and Louise Lane

Dear Larz:

In today's high tech society we often hear catch phrases such as "productivity," "Output," "on line," "zero defects," or "quality control." Of late, we have heard people use these phrases in relation to our schools. Presumably, they demand that our schools produce a new and improved "product" hence; the student. As educators we are disturbed by the recent trend to compare schools with manufacturing plants and children to widgets.

The ABC company has the capability to produce standard products, be they in Mass or N.J. They take the same natural materials, put them through the same manufacturing process and viola! out comes Product X. But, schools are not factories, and children are not molded from a standard list of ingredients or materials. That is why it is unfair to compare students in a particular school system with others in another system.

Students cannot be mass produced to achieve a uniform set of standards in the same way. You do not take one small child, sprinkle some reading, writing and arithmetic over his/her head and produce one standard high school graduate prepared to take on the world. Children have different capacities, personalities, backgrounds, emotions, and motivational levels. Add to that the fact that some school systems can offer their students more given their financial status. Given all these variables, teachers cannot turn all their students into Grade A inspected models, but it does not mean that students are not achieving, or that the educational process has not done its job.

How is it we measure this successful "product." The standard way has been through test scores. Yet, educators know that this is a false standard for measuring success because standardized pencil and paper tests are flawed in their nature. Test results are only one component of analyzing the "success" of a student. There are many other subject measures that can't be quantified as easily as a test score.

We do a disservice to students to compare them to each other or to demand they achieve an arbitrary standard for success. Children come to us from many different situations. These days, the possibility that a child will arrive on the school doorstep from a dysfunctional family, as a victim of abuse or neglect or carrying emotional disabilities is far greater than it was in the 1960s - the last time, by the way, that American GNP was high.

J. O'Brien
Tewksbury

Dear Larz:

The debate over whether Washington, D.C. should become the 51st state is becoming increasingly heated. Supporters offer a myriad of reasons to support statehood from inflammatory accusations of racism, to patriotic cries of "taxation without representation," to seemingly rational justifications that D.C.'s lack of full representation was an oversight by the Founding Fathers. They insist that Washington, D.C. meets the requirements for statehood and is ready and is capable of assuming the responsibilities statehood would entail. However impassioned, their arguments do not hold up to scrutiny.

From both historical and constitutional perspectives, statehood is not a viable solution to the District of Columbia's problems. The Founding Fathers intended the nation's capital to be independent from the states. Despite the rhetoric of statehood supporters, Washington, D.C. does not meet the historical prerequisites to become a state. Further, designating a city as a state risks fundamentally altering the nation's federalist form of government. Other constitutional concerns include whether the consent of Maryland is required and if the 23rd Amendment must be repealed. If the status quo is unacceptable to the residents of Washington, D.C., other alternatives exist with clearer constitutional support and without the perils to our federal form of government.

Sincerely,
C.A. Earle

25 years ago

The March 14, 1968 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

The tax rate would probably be $36 as a result of the town meeting, but could be less, perhaps $35.

Newly elected Chairman of the Board of Selectmen George Boylen was pictured cutting the ribbon at ceremonies held at the new Route 129 Restaurant on Lowell Street. Mrs. Wavie Drew, and Jim Miceli, also selectmen, pictured looking on.

According to Nosey Nancy, Jack Baldwin (USMC) and Mike Kasabuski (USN), buddies for years, had been trying for years to arrange leave time together, and finally did. They were both enjoying leave in Wilmington.

Newly elected Selectman Jim Banda asked for a review of the appointments made at about this time of the year, before any appointments were made. Mrs. Drew wanted to appoint town counsel immediately and Banda made a motion to continue the business until the following week, which "seemed to carry."

Voters appropriated $11,000 for lights at the town park.

Leo Woodside and Paul MacMullin were pictured as "our courteous delivery drivers" in an ad for Wilmington Center Pharmacy.

Polians Real Estate advertised "choice homes for executives" at $31,000.

Lucci's Market offered center pork chops at 79 cents a pound; five legged chickens, 35 cents a pound and large juicy grapefruit, four for 49 cents.

Elia's offered smoked shoulders at 37 cents a pound; ready to eat ham, 69 cents a pound and sword fish, 79 cents a pound.

POLITICS: It's About Service, Not Power!

To My Fellow Townspeople:

Tewksbury needs to make some very tough decisions, and the people you elect on April 3 must be willing to face them with vision, integrity and courage. Community-wide interests must take priority over narrow, special interests. Townspeople have the right to know what's being done to serve them, and elected officials have the duty to exert leadership on their behalf. That's what public service means to me: service! I've listed for your consideration a few of the issues that are important to all of us:

- [X] AMBULANCE SERVICE: Our townspeople need a realistic plan to ensure continuance of ambulance service, and a range of intelligent alternatives must be considered.
- [X] TEWKSBURY HOSPITAL: Our townspeople need to be informed through the Board of Selectmen regarding future plans by the Mass. Department of Public Health to change or expand current services at the hospital.
- [X] ROUTE 38 TRAFFIC: Our town needs - and its people deserve - a realistic plan to ease current congestion and avoid the worsening of traffic on our main street.
- [X] STATE-OWNED LAND: Our townspeople need to know how the Commonwealth of Massachusetts intends to use the 900+ undeveloped acres it owns in Tewksbury.
- [X] EVERYBODY'S NEEDS: Our town's needs are served best by cooperation and shared goals among town boards and departments, and I will work to end the in-fighting and petty turf wars that often embarrass our town and become obstacles to serving your needs.

Please remember, it's about service, not power! It is with this strong belief that I submit my candidacy for your consideration.

Respectfully,

Joan Dunlevy

Kindergarten
Mrs. Graham's kindergarten class celebrated its 100th day in school this past week. The children celebrated with a cake with 100 M&Ms on it, vests decorated with 100 of anything you could possibly imagine stuck to them and activities in the classroom centered around the number 100.

Mrs. Murphy's PM kindergarten 100 Day Celebration was snowed out on Friday, but will be rescheduled.

Preschool news
It might be of interest to parents of preschool children to know that the elementary principals and the kindergarten teachers have just completed their third meeting of the year with preschool teachers and directors of schools that send children to our kindergartens. The purpose of our meetings was to establish communication, get to know our fellow teachers, look at each other's curriculum, and work toward making the transition from preschool to kindergarten easier for the children.

Thank you
Last week a request was made for video tapes to be donated to the school library. I want to thank those parents who so quickly sent in tapes. We are most grateful!

To those parents who would like to send in tapes, please do. We are in need of many more and would appreciate your gift to the library.

Spelling bee champion
Patrick Murphy, grade five, room C20 will be representing the Shawsheen School in the Lowell Sun Spelling Bee.

Math-a-thon
Thanks to all the parents who supported this year's Math-a-thon.

Thanks to Mr. Richard Humes, coordinator, and all the parents who corrected and participated in the project. Pledges this year rival those of the past two years. It is to be understood that this is the school's major fundraiser and supports all the PACs enrichment programs and curriculum support activities for the next school year.

PAC
The Math-a-thon booklets have been returned to the children. They should now be collecting their pledges to be returned to the school by March 17.

We are looking forward to a Family Fun Night at Roller World in Saugus on March 25 from 6 to 8. A notice will be sent home this week. Once again, Lee Brooks has organized this event.

The fifth grade DARE graduation will take place from 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday, March 11. Entertainment will be provided by the students in the form of skits. Refreshments will be provided by the Pac.

The after school program has been canceled due to a lack of volunteers. It has become apparent that the current format for this program has become obsolete. There is a meeting scheduled for April 6 at 7 p.m. in the Shawsheen School Library to discuss brainstorm possible solutions. Anyone interested in a future after school program is strongly urged to attend this meeting.

Dana Gray has the Saturday Kindergarten Program running for the four Saturdays in March from 10 to 11:30 a.m. A good time is sure to be had by all.

Our next PAC meeting is scheduled for Monday, March 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafe. Our guest speaker will be Ann Quinn, director of Food Services for the Wilmington Public School System. Refreshments will be served.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL FAMILY MEDICAL CENTER IN WILMINGTON WELCOMES THE ARRIVAL OF NEW ENGLAND MEDICAL CENTER FLOATING HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN'S NEW SATELLITE OFFICE IN OUR FACILITY.

At Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center, we're pleased to announce that some of New England's leading pediatric specialists—the physicians from Floating Hospital for Children at New England Medical Center—are now more accessible to your family, and to all the families who live in the cities and towns northwest of Boston.

That's because these distinguished pediatricians have just opened a new satellite office in our Wilmington facility. Which means top quality medical care for your child will be just a short drive from your door.

A number of different medical specialists, including urology, will be offered, with cardiology and gastroenterology to follow soon. Of course, we hope you and your child never need the kind of specialized care these doctors provide. But if you do, isn't it nice to know that it's so close to home?

celebration

Mrs. Mosca's afternoon kindergarten class had a parade on Monday to celebrate the 100th day of school. The children all made vests with 100 things on them. Front, from left, Benjamin Little, Michael Flaherty, Bridget Kent, Eddie Lyons, Lauren McGonigle, Amanda Powers and John Murphy. Middle row, at left, Charlie Braissard, Jennifer Moon, Samantha Brooks. Standing, Sandra Kelley, Chris Wainnor, Dan Turner, Michelle Rappoli, Brad Fraser and Holly Brown.

Jars of 100

Holding their jars of 100 things, Miss Fields' B-10 afternoon kindergarten class marks the 100th day of school. In front are Joseph Fagan, Warren Fitzpatrick, Lauren Cronan and Jennifer Sullivan. The jars included such things as 100 jelly beans, 100 M&M's or 100 glitter sparkles.

Fire
department

Frosting

Native Americans to speak at Women's Club

March 17 will be guest night for the Wilmington Women's Club, held as usual at the United Methodist Church. The meeting will begin at 6 o'clock. Many art objects and handcrafted items will be on display, and a handsome basket full of gourmet goodies will be raffled.

To begin the evening, the guest of honor will speak. She is Mrs. Earl Norman, First Vice President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of Massachusetts.

Beverly Soper will give the blessing before dinner which will be served at 6:30 by Judith Simmons and her committee.

After making several announcements, President Liz White will introduce Ed Guillemett, a native American also known by his Indian name Onkwe Tase. He is a man who has devoted more than 30 years to preserving and promoting American Indian culture through public speaking, community activism and public service. He will be showing the authentic headdresses and colorful clothing worn by his people, and many other artifacts used by them.

March 17 will mark the special day of Brian Cooper of Starr Avenue, Tewksbury, Chuckie Salvo of Lancaster Drive, Al Fiorenza, Sr. of West Street, Wilmington and Paul Trites of Hanover Street.

Dave Clark of Cunningham Street, Wilmington, Paul Peters of Winston Avenue, Brenda Twombly of Grove Avenue and Erin Phelan of Boisvert Road, Tewksbury will share birthday greetings on March 18.

Susan Carlson of Federal Street, Wilmington seems to have her March 19 birthday all to herself. Margaret Perry of Pineridge Road, Wilmington and Barbara Sousa of Salem Street will be celebrating birthdays March 20.

March 21 will mark the special day of Anne Crispo of Hopkins Street, Wilmington.

George Saulnier of Adams Street, Wilmington and Evelyn Proferio of Nickerson Avenue will be listening to the strains of "Happy Birthday" March 22.

Return to Delaware

Phyllis and Butch Hagan and their sons Ben, Jarred, Travis and Jason have returned to their home in Delaware following an enjoyable winter visit in Wilmington - a first time experience for most of them.

Sledding, skating, snowmobiling and an honest to goodness hockey game were all part of a new scenario for most of the Hagan's, who stayed at the home of her brother, Frank on West Street.

Andrea Barnes of Alton, N.H. was also a member of the visiting contingent, but snow and ice were "old hat" to her.

Aim meets Tuesday

Wilmington's Aim group will meet from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 16 at K of C Hall. A St. Patrick's Day party will be enjoyed and the senior line dancers have been invited.

Donations of salads and desserts will be welcome.

Last week's presentation by a representative of the Woodbriar Nursing/Rehab facility on West Street was well received.

Pyramids and Pharaohs

Woburn Street School students will be treated to a presentation entitled Fun with Pyramids and Pharaohs.

Planned event, to be presented by Paulette Marin at 9 a.m. and again at 10, is part of Fun with Science Program and includes a museum exhibit of Egyptian artifacts. Parents welcome.

Easter seals needs help

Easter Seals is looking for volunteers to assist with volleyball at Andover High School Sunday, March 28. Volunteer duties include team photographers, prize distributors, registration table, timers, announcers, court referees and setup crew.

Anyone interested is urged to call Jania at (508) 683-1259.

Kristen Lubanski

Kristen Lubanski, daughter of Gail Lubanski of Cunningham Street, Wilmington has been named to the dean's list at Tufts University for the fall semester.

A graduate of Wilmington High School, Kristen is a freshman liberal arts major at Tufts.

Discovery Arts Fair

Discovery Arts Fair will be held Saturday, March 20. A day long (10 a.m. to 3 p.m.) event for families with children will be held Saturday, March 20 at the Congregational Church, Woburn and Sanborn Streets, Reading. (Enter from Sanborn Street.)

Snacks and lunch will be available; admission is $5 for children age two and up. Adults will be admitted free!!

Fairgoers will be encouraged to try a variety of arts and crafts activities. The Creative Arts Program has been providing art and music lessons to children and adults north of Boston for 16 years. Call (617) 942-0538.

Will The High Cost Of
Electric Heat
Leave You Cold
This Winter?

Tired of paying those enormous heating bills? You don't have to. Replace your inefficient heating with an economical direct-vented heating system from Energy Conservation Products and you will save hundreds of dollars each and every heating season (up to 70% savings vs. electric). Thousands of New England people heat their entire homes with U.L. approved, safe, quiet, odorless direct-vented heating products. We offer you clean, comfortable warmth.

Best of all, E.C.P. systems by Rinnai, Monitor, and Toyostove are easy and inexpensive to install trimming that pay-back period down dramatically... especially when comparing to other more complicated conversions. Installation any time of the year takes only a matter of hours.

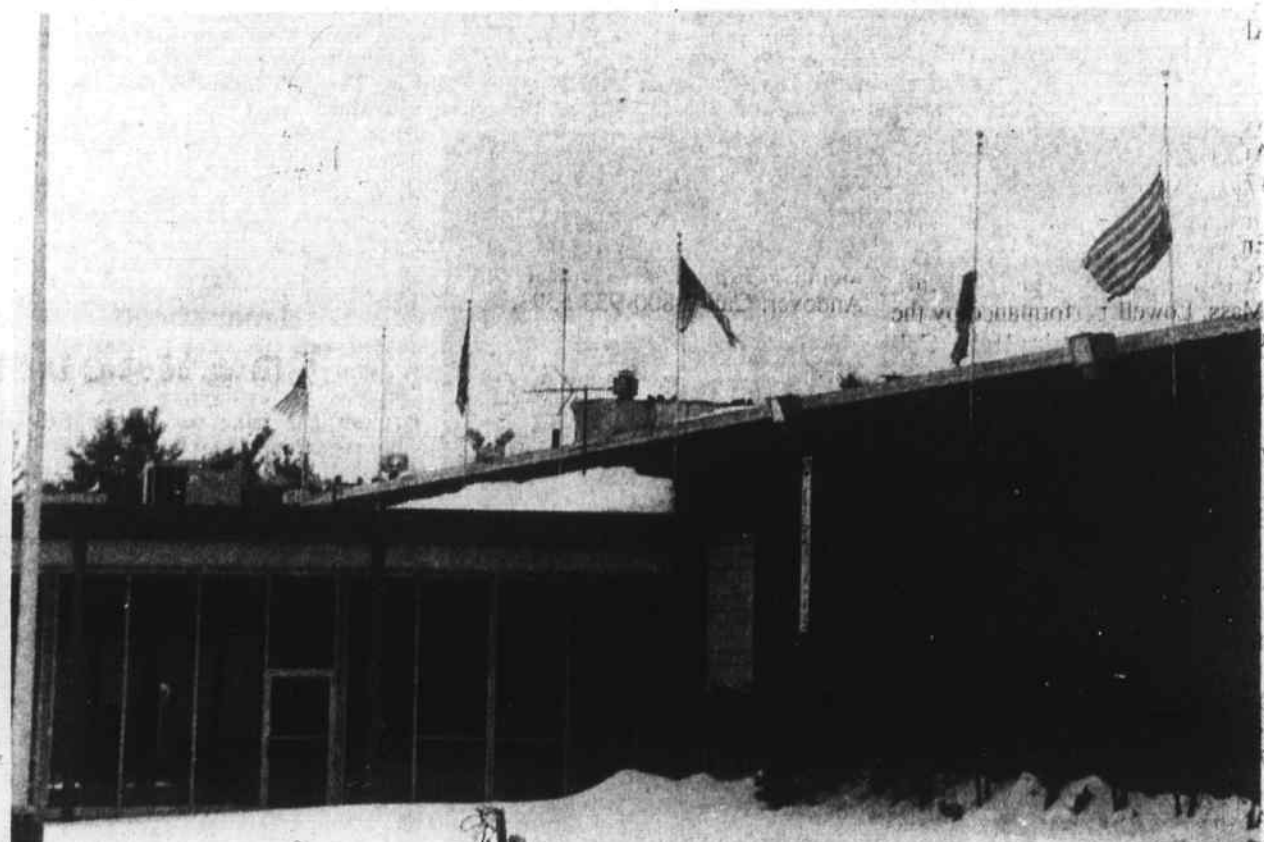

Come in, or call for free consultation on how you can save hundreds of dollars on your heating costs.

(and most importantly, be warm)

Faded and forlorn There's no glory for Old Glory at the former Wilmington Ford site on Main Street. The Stars and Stripes were left on the flagpoles when the dealership closed last year. The flags are now very much in a state of distress.

Spring fever turkey supper

A spring fever turkey supper will be served buffet style Saturday, March 20 at the First Baptist Church, 1500 R. Andover St., Tewksbury.

There will be two seatings, one at 5 p.m. and one at 6. Tickets will be available at the door, but may be reserved by calling 851-6463.

Pre-school program at WHS

Applications will be available in the Pre-School room at Wilmington High School Friday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. March 12, 19 and 26. Parents wishing to view the program are invited to Open House March 16 from 9 to 10 a.m.

This past year, the pre-school program included two separate four day sessions: a four day morning session for three-year-olds and a four day afternoon session for four and five-year-olds. Each session was approximately two and a half hours a day in duration.

It is our intention to provide a similar program for next year, but this will depend on the age, number and needs of next year's preschool registrants.

Current tuition is $130.00 per month and next year's tuition has yet to be established. A $25 non-refundable application fee is due with the application. An original copy of the child's birth certificate must also be presented at the time of registration.

Applications will be accepted by mail with $25 fee and the child's birth certificate. Birth certificate will be promptly returned. Deadline for all applications will be April 1, 1993.

Pre-school children returning for a second year will be given preference but must register.

The Wilmington High School Pre-School Program provides a high quality pre-school experience for three, four and five year-old children. An early childhood teacher, a high school child development teacher and a staff of qualified high school child development students provide an ideal child staff ratio for a maximum of 15 pre-school children in each session. Four spaces are available in each session for children with mild special needs.

This program also gives high school students, considering a career working with children, a realistic hands-on experience as they help plan and assist pre-school children with games, arts and crafts, songs, stories and snacks.

Parents wishing more information are asked to call 694-6060.

Counseling center celebrates 25 years

Local residents are invited to help Wilmington Family Counseling Service Inc. (WFCS) celebrate its 25th anniversary. The non-profit agency provides mental health services to Wilmington residents.

On Saturday, March 27 the board of directors of WFCS is holding a Karaoke Jamboree at the new Azalea Room in the Casa di Fior. The evening will begin with a cocktail/welcoming reception at 7 p.m. followed by a light buffet, karaoke music and dancing until midnight.

Tickets are on sale for $15 apiece and may be purchased at Uptown Deli, Center News, Mr. Ticket, and Casa di Fior. The profits will help defray the cost of services to families and individuals who can't afford the standard counseling fee. The service provides counseling on a sliding fee scale, depending on income.

"We hope it will be a success for us," Dr. Carol Golub told selectmen Monday night.

Selectmen, in turn, gave Dr. Golub and new WFCS President Sandra Murphy a proclamation declaring the week of March 22 WFCS Week in Wilmington. Cutoff date for tickets is March 22.

Tewksbury schools sponsor MIT program

The Tewksbury Public Schools have announced that the Guidance Department will sponsor a program for female students in grades nine through 11 to be presented by Mass. Institute of Technology.

The presentation, to be made to interested students by a team of volunteers from the Association of M.I.T. Alumnae (AMITA) and other professional groups, will take place March 24 from 10 a.m. to noon in the library of Memorial High School.

The program is designed to inform young women in high school about the importance of a strong background in math and science, the value of completing an education, and the opportunities that exist in a wide range of fields including science and engineering.

For further information about this collaborative program or if interested in working with the school presenting programs of interest and value to Tewksbury students, please call Mr. Maloy at (508) 851-3771 in the Guidance Office at Memorial High School or Dr. Michelle F. DeAngelis at (508) 640-9658 in the Student Services Office.

Pizza sale March 27, 28

St. Thomas ninth grade CCD confirmation class will hold a pizza sale to raise funds for the Por Cristo Medical Mission to South America. Orders for fresh pizza will be taken after all masses Saturday and Sunday March 27 and 28. Pizzas will be made April 3 and may be picked up after all masses in Villanova Hall.

Spring health fair March 25

Middlesex Community College (MCC) will sponsor a Spring Health Fair on March 31 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the City campus, Kearney Square, Lowell. The Health Fair, presented by the MCC Health Service in collaboration with student activities, is free and open to the public.

The event will focus on the health care resources available in the community. A variety of screening services including vision, skin, diabetes and hearing, will be offered. Demonstrations on CPR, choking, Tae Kwon Do and self defense are scheduled throughout the day. Alternative methods of care health, such as acupuncture and massage will also be included.

Many of the college's medical education programs will be featured including nursing, medical laboratory, medical lab technician, medical assisting, and occupational therapy assisting. Other student organizations including the Criminal Justice Club, Students in Recovery Club, GALA and the Black Unity Club, will provide educational information.

They will be joined by representatives from the Greater Lowell AIDS Task Force, the Rape Crisis Center, and Alternative House, as well as the American Cancer Society and the Heart Association.

Wilmington senior topics

Commissioners meet Tuesday Tuesday, March 16, the commissioners meeting will be held in the function room of the Senior Center. After a brief business meeting candidates seeking a town political office will be speaking to the seniors on how they will serve the town if we vote them into office. All the candidates have received an invitation to attend the meeting. It is our responsibility to attend and learn as much as we can about the person who is going to represent us as a town official.

This will be a televised meeting. All of us will be allowed to ask questions of the candidates after each group speaks. Don't let another person make up your mind about any candidate. Attend this meeting, listen and ask questions. This meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m. Coffee and donuts will be available.

Julie Daley
Julie Daley, Regional Health Clinic nutritionist will be our guest Tuesday, March 16 from 10 a.m. to noon. She will be speaking in the craft room on how to read labels when shopping. This is an important subject as an item might be advertised as cholesterol free and we will believe it will be good for us, but when reading the label you can see on many products the amount of fat it may contain. Fat in the food can build up plaque in our arteries, one of the main causes of heart attack. She will also be speaking on several other important subjects on nutrition we should be aware of. This is a free nutrition class, try to attend. The more we know how to prevent a medical problem the healthier and more active we will be.

Incorrect date

We had the wrong date on the distribution of MBTA cards at the center. The correct date is Thursday the 18th, not the 16th from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Remember to have proof of your age with you when you arrive. To receive a senior discount card from the MBTA you must be 65 years of age or older. If you are under 65 and disabled you will have to have proof of your disability. If you have any questions on your qualification to receive a card, you should call the MBTA Senior and Access Pass Office in Boston 1-617-722-5438.

Surplus commodities

We still have some surplus commodities left at the center. If you are low income or know of a low income person come to the center or have them come. We have peanut butter, butter, string beans, vegetarian beans and pork still left.

St. Patrick's celebration

We have some openings for the St. Patrick's dinner dance therapeutic social. If you have not signed up yet it will be held in the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks Hall March 19 from 7 p.m.

Tax assistance

Openings are also available to have your income taxes prepared at the Senior Center. There are only four weeks left during which Joe and Millie will be with us. Call the center if you want help or if you would like them to check your's before you mail them.

State Rep. Marianne Brenton will join a delegation of nearly 60 state lawmakers who will travel to Washington later this month (March 9-10) in search of rate relief for 2.5 million consumers in the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) service district.

Rep. Brenton, who represents the 23rd Middlesex District (Burlington, Bedford and Pct. 3 in Wilmington) is hopeful the delegation will succeed in convincing federal officials to increase their financial share in the court ordered Boston Harbor Cleanup. The project is considered the key reason for spiraling increases in water and sewer charges.

"Last year we established the legislative MWRA Caucus to act as an advocate for 'rate-payer-friendly' initiatives. While the caucus has had great success in helping local water and sewer users save hundreds of millions of dollars in future charges, we cannot rest until more is shifted away from those who have been unfairly burdened with higher and higher MWRA charges," Brenton said.

"Our congressional delegation has done a marvelous job in bringing the Harbor Cleanup back to the forefront of national discussion," she said. "Although we have received more than $100 million a year for several years from the federal government, the amount is inconsequential when compared with the overall $6 billion cost. We need to plead our case before the Clinton Administration and greatly improve the Federal Government's share of the cost."

According to Rep. Brenton, newly elected US Congressman Peter Torkildsen is expected to join the Mass. contingency as it pleads its case in the nation's capitol.

Rep. Brenton plans to carry a strong message from her constituents, explaining, "I have met with scores of people in the past few weeks who are concerned about their water rates. They think, and I agree, that the buck doesn't stop in Washington, it starts there - especially when the buck is used for projects such as the harbor cleanup."

MVP swimming

Pirates take meet championship

The Merrimack Valley Pirate (MVP) swim team competed in two championship meets recently, capturing one and placing well in the other.

In the New England 10 and under championships at Wellesley College, MVP finished first in a field of 61 teams, scoring more than 1400 points.

Sean Riley won the high point trophy in the eight and under class with wins in the 60 and 100 yard freestyle, 50 yard breaststroke and 100 yard individual medley, second in the 25 yard breaststroke, third in the 25 yard butterfly, fourth in the 25 yard free and sixth in the 50 yard backstroke and butterfly.

Ryan Middlemiss, who was sixth in highpoint, was fifth in the 25 back and 100 free, sixth in the 50 breaststroke, seventh in the 100 I.M., eighth in the 25 fly, ninth in the 50 free and 10th in the 50 yard back and fly.

Michael Richard, eighth in high point, was fourth in the 50 breaststroke, seventh in the 25 breaststroke, eighth in the 500 back, ninth in the 25 back and 100 free, 11th in the 100 I.M., 12th in the 50 fly and 15th in the 50 free.

Riley, Middlemiss and Richard teamed with Colin Higgins for a first in the 100 yard freestyle relay and a second in the 100 yard medley relay.

Connie Brown was second in the eight and under girls' high point competition with wins in the 25 and 50 free, 25 and 50 fly, 25 back and 100 I.M. and seconds in the 50 back and fly and 100 free. Mindy Butterworth was 15th in the 50 yard butterfly.

Brown, Butterworth and Caitlin Geary swam on the Pirate medley and freestyle relays, both of which placed second.

In the 9-10 age group, Joe Almlof was seventh in the 200 free, eighth in the 100 I.M., 12th in the 100 back and 14th in the 100 yard breaststroke. He was also a member of the second place 400 free relay, third place 200 free relay and fourth place 200 medley relay.

Scarlette Quigley was third in the high point competition with a first in the 200 yard freestyle, seconds in the 100 free and 200 I.M., thirds in the 50 and 100 fly, 100 back, 100 breaststroke and 100 I.M. and fifth in the 50 free.

Jill Middlemiss, sixth in the high point, won the 100 free and was third in the 200 free, fifth in the 200 I.M., sixth in the 50 free and 100 I.M., seventh in the 100 back and fly and 14th in the 50 fly.

Nicole Hendrickson placed sixth in the 200 free and 16th in the 100 fly, while teammate Kailyn Richard was 11th in the 100 fly and 14th in the 200 free.

Cori Alfonso was 11th in the 200 free and 15th in the 50 yard breaststroke.

Hendrickson, Richard Middlemiss and Quigley won the 400 yard freestyle relay, while Hendrickson, Middlemiss and Quigley swam on the second place 200 medley relay and the third place 200 free relay.

Richard swam with Alfonso, Sally Brown and Michelle Riley on the fifth place 200 free relay, while Alfonso, Brown and Riley were on the fourth place 400 free relay.

At the bronze championship, held at the White Brook Middle School in East Hampton, Matt Gagne (11-12) won the 500 yard freestyle, was fourth in the 290 I.M., fifth in the 50 breaststroke, sixth in the 100 breaststroke, seventh in the 200 free and 100 fly and I.M. and ninth on the 50 back.

In the 13-14 age group, Ray LeMoine won the 200 yard butterfly, while teammate Jeff Middlemiss was 11th in the 100 back and 12th in the 100 five and 200 back.

Lindsay Girolamo (9-10) won the 50 free, was sixth in the 100 fly and 200 free and seventh in the 50 breaststroke and 100 free.

Jackie LeMoine (11-12) won the 100 I.M. and placed second in the 100 fly, fourth in the 100 breaststroke, eighth in the 200 I.M. and ninth in the 200 free.

Christina Rhode (13-14) placed fourth in the 200 back and ninth in the 200 I.M.

The Merrimack Valley Pirates are gearing up for the New England Age Group and Senior Championships later this month for Eastern Zone Championships and the National Junior Olympics-East in April.

MVP is guided by Head Coach Rick Battistini, Head Senior Coach Josh Willman, Head Junior Coach Scott Porter and assistant coaches Patty Fitzgerald, Mary Robb and Lou Rosenfeld.

Wilmington High School senior center Greg Cardello leans into the baseline for two points in MVC action. Cardello scored four points and Dave Oatis 15 in Sunday afternoon's MVC All-Star Game.

Volleyball volunteers

Many volunteer opportunities exist for people who would like to get involved with the Easter Seal Volleyball Games. The games will be held March 26, 27 and 28 at Reading Memorial High School.

Proceeds will support local Easter Seal services for children and adults with disabilities. For information, call Anne at (617) 482-3375.

Summer hockey

Summer Junior Pro Hockey with individualized and specialized small group ice instruction will be offered at the Ristuccia Exposition Center, 190 Main St., Wilmington. For information, call Julie Giangregorio at (508) 657-3976.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

AUTO THEFT CRISIS

QUESTION: What are the statistics on car thefts in the U.S.?

ANSWER: Theft of autos in the U.S. is reaching crisis proportions. They are well over the one million mark annually.

Almost all of the thefts occur with unlocked cars and one of five actually have keys in the ignition. One car is stolen every 32 seconds. Over 75% of car thieves arrested are under age 21. Two thirds of auto thefts occur at night and thefts reach their peak in October. More than one out of every 100 cars registered this year will be stolen.

If you want to avoid car theft, your best bet is always leave it locked and keep your keys in your pocket.

AUTO THEFT is reaching crisis proportions. Don't make it easy for car thieves. Lock up.

Wilmington Youth Soccer coming events

The Wilmington Youth Soccer Association reminds parents that late registration forms for the spring in-town soccer program are still being accepted via the league's post office box.

If you have a blank registration form, please complete it, enclose the fee and a copy of your player's birth certificate, and mail it to the Wilmington Youth Soccer Association, P.O. Box 107, Wilmington.

The fee is $20 per player, up to a maximum of $50 per family. In addition, please add a $5 late fee per registration.

If you do not have a registration form or require more information, please contact Chuck Courtois at 657-4793.

Birth certificates

We remind all parents who did not turn in a copy of their player's birth certificate at the recent signups to please send us a copy to the post office box address before the spring in-town season begins in late April.

Coaching courses

The Wilmington Youth Soccer Association is planning another introductory 'G' state license course with the Massachusetts Youth Soccer Association.

The course uses a fun workshop format designed to generate excitement and interest in soccer coaching. Techniques are presented for the novice youth coach, especially for players under 10 years of age.

This is an excellent course for the unsure or busy new coach. The content will focus on small sided soccer for the young ages. A manual will be provided and the $5 registration fee will be refunded to all participants at the completion of the course.

Please contact John Daisy at 658-4524 if you have questions or wish to attend. The WYSA strongly recommends this course for all new or novice coaches.

The WYSA is also interested in holding a 'F' license course for more experienced coaches and individuals already holding a 'G' license. If you are interested, please contact John Daisy.

Finally, an 'E' license course will be held March 20-21 in Concord for coaches who already hold an 'F' license and are interested in upgrading their coaching skills. Please contact Gigi Estabrook at 508-369-0320 for more information.

Travel referee course

An entry level course for individuals interested in refereeing travel games will be held February 25, 26 and 27 at the Sprague School Recreation Building in Wellesley. Please contact Judy Lucarelli at 617-237-3595 for more information.

Kristin Hodges (54) gets ready to snare this rebound late in this MVC game.

Redmen attack takes off

Tewksbury High School's hockey offense took off late in the season thanks largely to the efforts of Don Bibb (9), Mike Delaney (7) and Brian Gangemi (17), as the Redmen regained the Small School Division title in the MVHL.

Shawsheen Tech swimming programs

Local residents are invited to participate in the following spring swimming programs at Shawsheen Tech, 100 Cook St., Billerica.

Family swim: This program is offered currently Monday through Friday from 8 to 9:30 p.m. It is for adults and children accompanied by their parents. The pool is divided to provide opportunities for lap swimming, diving and recreational swimming.

Cost: $18 per month for the family; $15 for an individual or $2 per person for each swim. Special rates for senior citizens.

Registration at the door on the night you wish to swim.

Pre-school lessons: Children ages three through six will meet in small classes to learn water adjustment and swimming on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Lessons are taught in half hour sessions between 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

This program starts in April at a cost of $38 for 10 lessons. Register after March 20 by calling 667-2111 x 126.

Competitive swimming: Anthony Fiore and Rick Daney, varsity coaches for both the boys' and girls' high school teams will coach a team for ages eight through 18.

Basic competitive skills, racing dives, turns, stroke work and endurance work will be offered to new competitors. A U.S. swimming team is offered for those ready to race against swimmers from other areas.

This program will run Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 7 to 8 p.m. This is an ongoing program. Take children any night at 7 p.m. for a tryout. Cost is $25 per month, with no pre-registration necessary.

Senior citizens swimming: Every Wednesday that school is in session. Residents 50 years of age and older are invited for a swim between 10 and 11 a.m. This program is in operation all year and is free to residents of the Shawsheen District.

Water safety instructions: Upon successful completion of this course, students will be certified to teach Red Cross swimming and issue Red Cross certifications. The course will be held Monday and Wednesday from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. Prerequisites include proof that the student is 17 years of age or older, is proficient in basic water safety and swimming skills and holds a basic water safety and emergency rescue card or a lifeguarding certificate.

Classes will be held April 12 through May 26, with no classes during April school vacation. Cost of $80 includes books and materials. Register by calling (508) 667-2111 x 126.

Swim school: Six to 14-year-olds may take Red Cross lessons Mondays and Wednesdays in half hour sessions at 3, 3:30, 4 and 4:30 p.m.

Classes are taught by trained Shawsheen students under the supervision of a Red Cross instructor. Program starts March 15 with a cost of $30 for 10 lessons. Pre-register by calling 667-2111 x 126.

Aquasize: Firm up for spring with aquasize. Classes meet Monday and Wednesday from 6 to 7 and from 7 to 8 p.m.

Aquasize improves both muscle tone and the cardiovascular system without stress on the joints. Swimming ability is not necessary. Classes start Monday, April 5; $50 for 12 lessons. Register by calling 667-2111 x 126.

Sportswriting, broadcasting school

Bill Rafferty and Jerry Izenberg will conduct a school for sports broadcasting and journalism July 11 to 16 at Montclair State College, Montclair, NJ.

The camp is for high school and college students and others interested in a career in sports broadcasting or journalism.

Prominent guest sportscasters and writers are scheduled to speak. Contact Norty Hodler at Mid-Court Associates, 1-201-743-0363 or write Box 2487, Bloomfield, NJ 07003.

Get ready for the annual 'ice out'

by Bill Conlon
"Ice Out" hasn't arrived yet, but it will. Every pond enjoys "ice out" at different days and times, based on a ton of factors, but it's an event.

Prevailing winter temperatures is the main determinant in how much ice each pond will have. Neighbor ponds, even a few miles apart, may have wildly different ice thickness.

Then there are springs bubbling up from underneath, wind, spring rains, and so on, all of which affect the ice layer. Lots of variables.

Pond ice right now is losing its muscle. The edges will melt first, leaving a pad of ice in the center of the pond with water all around. I've seen a few daring anglers (feel free to call them idiots) who will jump across the open water and onto the ice pad to fish, then jump back to shore when it's time to quit. I may enjoy my fishing, but walking on rotten ice is a recipe for disaster.

That ice pad will someday fall to pieces and disappear, suddenly, on the day of Ice Out.

My grandma Emma Murray used to take part in an annual pool at the Club Fleur-de-Lis in Tyngsboro, where she was one of the regulars. People would pay a buck a chance to pick the day and time of Ice Out, winner take all. The Club has big bay windows facing Long Pond, so the ice was watched constantly as the day grew near.

Picking the exact time of ice out is an important part of the gamble. Ice out happens suddenly, and from the stories I was told, it was hardly unusual for somebody to see the ice one moment, look away, and look back to see nothing but open water.

The Vernal Equinox, when day and night become of equal length, (when the sun crosses the equator) marks the official start of spring, but ice out is another celebration of the season.

The quirky TV series "Northern Exposure" featured an unusual way to mark Ice Out. The fictional town of Cecily, Alaska, is an odd place to begin with, but their ice out party was downright bizarre. All the men in Cecily gathered at the local pub, at daybreak, and their newly-hired doctor went along to find out why. The men were drinking heavily in the early morning, which was odd, but the reason became apparent.

When the ice broke on the river, the walls of the place shook, and all the men began undressing. The new doctor was amazed, but the others convinced him to do the same. Once everyone was buck naked, they all went charging out the door, yelling and screaming as they ran down the main street in town. Both sides of the street were lined with women, who applauded the annual Ice Out Racers. What a weird program.

Running down a street in Alaska, naked and drunk, is most assuredly an unusual way to mark Ice Out.

Ice Out is coming soon to a pond or lake near you. But please stay dressed. It's still nippy out there.

--- Tackle Box ---

Well, I screwed up last week on a plug for a new book and a fix is in order.

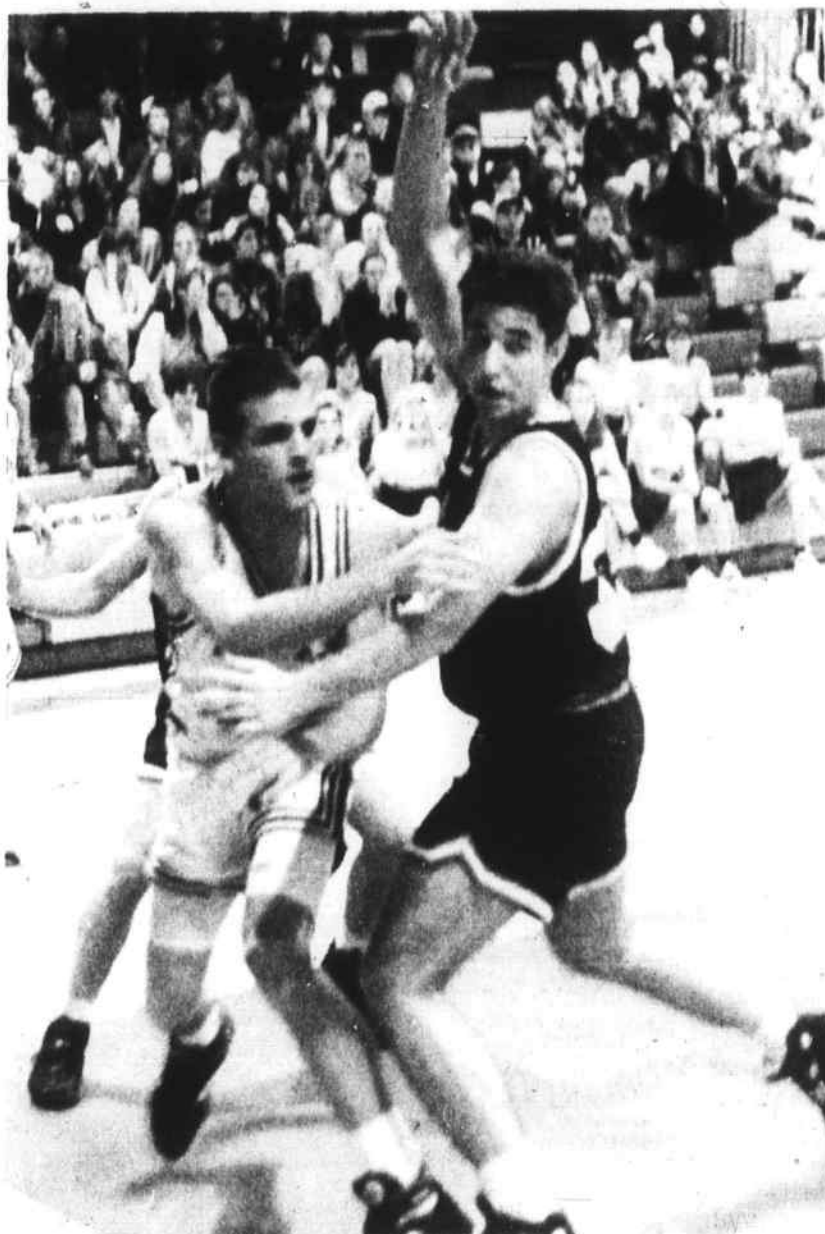

"Northern Adventures" is filled with discounts and coupons for all sorts of entertainment and lodging in northern New England. Only the states of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont are covered, but there are discounts on cruises, hotels and bed-and-breakfasts, and even price reductions on hot air balloon rides and para-sailing at Hampton Beach. The book, retailing at $9.95, can be had for only $4.95 at Joe Forest's Colonial Village Sunoco, at 1049 Main Street, Tewksbury. Joe will be offering the savings book for that discount price with a fill-up of eight or more gallons.

In the state Sportsfishing Awards program, the gold pins for the biggest fish were awarded last month. Some of the fish taken were pretty huge, really. For example, the top Northern Pike went 32 pounds, 14 ounces, taken by Martin Janhunen on Lake Quinsigamond. The award for carp went for a 30-pounder out of the Merrimack caught by John Roberts of Newton; and the biggest pickerel of the year was 5-pounds, 15 ounces, out of Mashpee-Wakeby by Bernie Zutauf of Bridgewater.

But some of the other top fish in 1992 were ... ahem ... scrawny by comparison. The Massachusetts top largemouth bass for the year was a paltry 9-pounds 13-ounces, caught in Glen Charlie Pond by Richard Dunton of Watertown; the biggest tiger muskie was a mere 16 pounds; and the biggest crappie (calico bass) was only 2-pounds-12, taken from the Quabbin.

We really need to try harder. The Merrimack Valley has plenty of big fish, but we need to catch them. If you do get a whopper, bring it to Wildside Sports in N. Wilmington to be officially weighed.

The numbers are also in from the 1992 deer harvest, and it was a very good year. A total of 10,040 deer fell last fall, with new records set in archery and muzzleloading. Since 1985, the number of deer taken by primitive weapons has doubled, and the number of bow-killed deer has tripled! And the herd continues to slowly increase, promising a better hunt in the future.

Lahey host pulmonary lecture

The Lahey Clinic and the American Lung Association of Middlesex County will present a lecture for those with chronic lung disease on "Breathing Exercises and Inspiratory Muscle Training." On Tuesday, March 16.

The lecture, scheduled for noon in the 7-Central Conference Room at Lahey Clinic, 41 Mall Rd., Burlington, will be delivered by Paula J. Downes Vogel, R.P.T., coordinator of the Pulmonary Rehabilitation Program at Lahey Clinic. It is the third in a series of 11 free lectures on pulmonary rehabilitation for individuals and families of individuals with chronic lung problems.

For more information, or to obtain a complete listing of the remaining lectures, call Lahey Clinic's Dept. of Public Affairs at (617) 273-8733.

Applications sought for Easter Seal Camp

The Mass. Easter Seal Society is accepting applications for staff positions for this summer at Agassiz Village, a camp in West Poland, Maine. The Easter Seal Unit operates four, two week sessions for physically disabled children between six and 15 years old.

Students enrolled in special education and allied health programs are encouraged to apply. Experience with physically disabled children is also desirable.

The camp is located in a rustic atmosphere on 650 acres of land at Thompson Lake. Activities include swimming, archery, arts and crafts, wheelchair sports, a ropes course and nature activities. Many of the activities for the disabled campers are integrated with those of the able bodied children at the camp.

For more information contact Rosalind Fisher at the Easter Seal Society, 484 Main St., Worcester MA 01608 (508) 751-6343.

Route 38 road improvement project

In the conceptual plans designed by the engineering firm Fay, Spofford, and Thorndike Inc. there are two traffic lanes going in each direction in front of Wilmington Plaza; these narrow to one lane in each direction past Rocco's Restaurant and Clark Street. There will also be changes in traffic patterns. Cars will no longer be allowed to turn left from Middlesex Avenue onto Rt. 38. Left turns will be allowed from Clark Street. Signals are proposed at the intersections of Clark Street, the Wilmington Plaza entrance, and Rt. 129.

A conceptual plan showing proposed changes by Wilmington Plaza. Changes include: creating one entrance instead of the current two to the Plaza, aligning the entrance to the old Wilmington Ford property up with that to the Plaza, and moving the entrance further south to avoid a back-up of traffic by the present signal at Rt. 129 (Richmond Road). Other changes include widening Rt. 38 (Main Street) to 53 feet to allow for four traffic lanes and sidewalks on both sides of the street, placement of a traffic signal by the Plaza entrance, and road resurfacing from Middlesex Avenue to the Tewksbury town line. Only minimal landtakings are being proposed.

Road improvement meeting March 29

by Arlene Surprenant

A special informational meeting will be held Monday, March 29 at 7:30 p.m. at Wilmington Town Hall to take an informative look at the Rte. 38 road widening and improvement project. The meeting is being sponsored jointly by the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority and the Wilmington Board of Selectmen.

At the request of the selectmen, the redevelopment authority has been working on a design to do such things as eliminate curb cuts by Wilmington Plaza, put in traffic signals at several intersections, widen Main Street, put in sidewalks, and overall, facilitate the flow of traffic in the vicinity of Middlesex Avenue to the Tewksbury town line. This project is not to be confused with the replacement of the Burlington Avenue (Rt. 62) bridge in the town center area or the redevelopment of the Main Street area through the Strategic Planning Grant. All three are separate projects being worked on simultaneously.

Michael Matt, executive director of the WRA, has already gone to various town officials and state legislators as well as local organizations with the conceptual plan to keep them informed of the progress and to seek input on any changes they would like to see in the plan. Some of these suggestions, like sidewalks on both sides of the street, have been incorporated into the design.

The March 29 meeting is open to all residents of the town. Matt hopes this preliminary meeting will add to the wide support the plan has already received. He told this paper, "I'm kind of happy the way this has gone. I've not had one person say this is a bad project."

Town Manager Michael Cairra echoed Matt's thoughts: "I think it's very exciting. I think we're finally getting somewhere. This is a good example of the redevelopment authority and the selectmen working together for the good of the town."

Following the joint meeting, the WRA will meet to formally adopt the concept then transfer it to the selectmen, who will request that the state put it on the TIP (Transportation Improvement Program) for state and federal funding, said Matt. The redevelopment authority will pay to draw up the 25 percent design for the project. After that, the state will hold a public hearing to receive comments on the plan. If there is the same kind of local support for the design as there was at the beginning of the process, said Matt, the project will then move to the 75 percent stage and into the state's domain.

A MOST SPECTACULAR TRAIN

Calling all train buffs and anyone else who might enjoy breathtaking mountain vistas and leisurely train service reminiscent of a bygone era. The Rocky Mountaineer will carry you through some of the most picturesque scenery in North America. For its sight seeing jaunts through the Canadian Rockies, the gleaming modern train travels only during daylight hours and at speeds slow enough for travelers to drink in the surroundings. An overnight stop in the 600 mile trek is made at historic Kamloops, British Columbia, which was founded in 1812 as a fur trading post. Throughout the journey, there are enough tunnels, trestles, mountain waterfalls and snow-capped peaks to capture anyone's heart.

We know you'll find that taking the time to visit the out-of-the-way places will add more to your trip than you ever imagined. Let ALL AROUND TRAVEL put our knowledge, resources and experiences to work for you. Whether you're traveling by train, boat, plane, bus or car, we'll help you get there at the best rate, with the least trouble and the most fun. We're a full service agency here at 203 Jefferson Rd., N. Wilmington (Rt. 62), with never a fee for our services. Open Mon-Fri. 9-5 by appointment. Ph. 658-2313.

HINT: Canada's Rocky Mountaineer is said to offer "the most spectacular train trip in the world."

The conceptual plans call for increasing the present two lanes on Clark Street to three in the proximity of Rt. 38 to aid traffic flow. The Clark Street intersection will be signalized with a pedestrian crosswalk and sidewalks on both sides of Main Street.

Wilmington candidates

Haldane tries for second term

Attorney Mark Haldane has announced his candidacy for re-election to the Wilmington Board of Selectmen. Haldane points to a first term of achievement, leadership, commitment and compassion as he seeks your support and your vote on April 17.

In the past three years, Mark Haldane has built consensus and delivered results. He led the fight against an $838,000 override attempt while supporting cuts to balance the budget in 1990. He supported job-saving budget reductions following the 1991 cuts in local aid. He has been a leading advocate of department consolidations and management cost-saving measures which have saved the taxpayers over one million dollars. Mark Haldane promised to downsize government and he has delivered.

Haldane's first term has seen several community group and roadway improvement projects come to fruition. One of the most important achievements was the establishment of a Capital Improvement Stabilization Fund. For the first time ever, Wilmington is creating its future through long-range planning and management. Selectman Haldane supported the $600,000 Small Cities Grant Program and successfully advocated for the career counseling component of the program.

Success is achieved with leadership. Various political, civic, charitable and religious organizations have tapped the talent and sound judgement of Mark Haldane. Governor Weld recognized Haldane's talents and appointed him to be the chairman of the Board of Review for the Department of Employment and Training. His colleagues on the Board of Selectmen elected him chairman. Haldane is president of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society, a 165-year-old charity. He is vice president of the Wilmington Family Counseling, Inc., and moderator of the Congregational Church in Wilmington.

Leadership requires commitment. As a member and Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Mark Haldane has represented the board and the town in negotiations over the Woburn Industriplex development and meetings of the N.B.T.A. Advisory Board, M.W.R.A. Advisory Board, Metropolitan Area Planning Council and various town boards and committees. He serves on the Auditor Search Committee and is a member of the Wilmington Housing Partnership, where he has worked to provide affordable housing, benefiting many Wilmington residents, while preserving neighborhood integrity.

Mark Haldane

Mark Haldane believes that service requires compassion. Compassion is not a term you have often heard associated with Wilmington politics. As an Administrative Law Judge, Mark Haldane makes tough decisions affecting unemployed workers and employers. He knows the personal pain and workplace disruption that work separations cause. As your Selectman, he works to ease the burdens on those who suffer job loss.

Mark Haldane's personal experience enables him to relate to the struggles of the single mother raising a family while working to meet financial obligations. He sympathizes with the widow who must adjust to new realities and challenges. Mark Haldane is passionate about serving with compassion. These are values he teaches as a father, practices as an attorney and administrative law judge and lives as a resident of the community.

"We must put the politics of the past behind us and elevate the needs of our neighbors and the best interests of our community to a place of primary importance," said Haldane. "That has been my priority during the past three years and it will remain my priority for as long as I am given the privilege of serving."

When the television cameras fade out and the Selectmen's meetings end, Mark Haldane goes to work to serve the people of Wilmington. He has proven he is more than a Monday night Selectman. On April 17, vote for an experienced leader with commitment and compassion. Re-elect Chairman Mark Haldane.

Capuano candidate for selectman

Tony Capuano has announced his candidacy for the Board of Selectmen. Tony has lived at 1 Ring Avenue for 21 years with his wife Rita of 32 years and two sons, Mark, 30 and Christopher 25. A retired self-made businessman, Tony has the time, the business experience and the personal commitment to effectively serve all the citizens of Wilmington.

In these times of budgetary crisis, selectmen must be knowledgeable about all aspects of town government. In order to gain this knowledge, over the past four years Tony has taken the time to attend 98 percent of all selectmen's meetings, school committee meetings and finance committee meetings, enabling him to keep abreast of issues facing the town, and providing him with the basis for fair, impartial decision making.

Tony Capuano

Capuano believes town government needs to be accountable as well as equitable in dealing with issues that affect the people of our community. For example, Tony says "It's not right to lay off people at the bottom of the pay scale in town government and have those at the top be rewarded. Those practices affect morale and ignore the fact that Wilmington has a 10 percent unemployment rate.

"Selectmen in local towns can get themselves into trouble when they vote on issues that directly affect their own businesses," Capuano adds. "I want to serve the people of Wilmington and ensure them that they receive fair representation. If residents want a selectman working full time for the town and who will tell them the truth on any issue, they should vote for me." Tony is always willing to listen with understanding and to ensure that all the facts are presented and fully and openly discussed.

Tony was instrumental in helping to be sure that all the facts were disclosed to the taxpayers of Wilmington on the issue of the Northeast Sewer Interceptor, and spoke against the project, which was ultimately defeated at a Special Town Meeting in December, 1991. Tony has made the commitment to continue to work hard to ensure that sewer costs do not continue to escalate and adversely affect the residents of our community, particularly those who live on fixed incomes.

He also believes that Wilmington should make use of existing town buildings and property to provide better recreational facilities for the youth of our community.

"I can be a full time selectman because I have both the time and the commitment to get the job done. I am totally independent of any political establishment in town or of any special interest group. I have no political debts. Being retired and with my family fully grown, I can devote the time needed to serve all the citizens of Wilmington - the children, the seniors, and the working people. My goal is to serve - to contribute my business experience and my common sense approach to the Board of Selectmen." If you want a committed individual with knowledge, experience and determination to speak for you and to do it with integrity, vote for Tony Capuano for Selectman.

Demos vies for school board seat

James Demos

James A. Demos has announced his candidacy for the three year term on the Wilmington School Committee.

My wife Eleanor and I have been living in Wilmington over 31 years. We have three children who have graduated from the Wilmington School system and two grandsons one of whom is currently attending kindergarten at the Shawsheen Elementary School.

My qualifications for the school Committee consist of a doctoral degree from Boston College with a major in school administration and special education administration. A master degree with a focus in Elementary education, psychology and special education from Salem State College. A bachelor degree with a major in business administration with a minor in secondary education from Suffolk University.

My work experience for the past 33 years consists of eight years as a classroom teacher in the Wilmington and Chelmsford Public Schools; three years as an executive director of an educational and rehabilitation work activity center for the Greater Lowell Association for Retarded Citizens; 21 years in school administration involved with multi-million dollars budget development and management, teacher evaluations, staff development and most important development of educational and vocational curriculum and programs for children; three years as an adjunct lecturer at Boston College School of Education; and from 1972 to 1990, I have served 12 of these years on the Wilmington School Committee.

Our Public Education is going through a restructuring process while at the same time were living in a declining economic period. Wilmington's commitment in the restructuring of our educational system for our children to enter the 21st century requires diligence and a responsible forceful management of our investment in our children's education.

My past and present formal educational training and experience in education will allow me to assure you, the parents and the taxpayers of Wilmington that your financial investment, whatever that bottom line may be, will focus on our children's educational needs, such as: setting high standards for our schools - assure that the administration is developing the resources to meet the needs of all our children within our financial constraints.

Your children in today's world in order to survive, need the basic academic knowledge that is meaningful and will give them the opportunity to be able to compete and become economically creative and productive in their adult lives. Please come out on April 17, 1993 and exercise your right.

Editor's note: The candidates' announcements presented on this page were prepared by the candidates. The statements made are those of the candidates and have not been verified by the Town Crier staff.

Palizzolo in race for school board

Paul R. Palizzolo has announced his candidacy for the two year term on the Wilmington School Committee. A manager of planning and analysis at TAD Technical Services Corporation, Paul holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting and a Masters of Science degree in Finance from Bentley College.

Paul and his wife Elaine live at 6 Safford St. with their two children. Stacy is a freshman at Wilmington High School and Richard is a fourth grader at the Shawsheen School.

Paul has demonstrated his commitment to the Town of Wilmington by serving on the Finance Committee from 1989-1992, the last two years as its chairman. In this capacity he worked closely with the Town Manager, Board of Selectmen, School Committee, and various department managers to bring in fiscally responsible budgets that would minimize layoffs, keep the tax rate stable, and maintain services to the community.

Most recently Paul was appointed by the School Committee and Board of Selectmen to complete a vacated term on the School Committee. Presently he is serving as Chairman of the Budget Subcommittee where he has brought a new approach to the school administration. An approach that gives them a sense of ownership and accountability in the budget process. He is also serving on the Wilmington Water and Sewer Finance Advisory Committee and the Wilmington Audit Committee.

Our schools still face difficult challenges ahead that will require us to provide appropriate classroom space and proper class sizes at the elementary level, upgrading of computers and textbooks to meet the technological challenges we face today and in the future, improving our students' education so that their Massachusetts Assessment scores are above average instead of below, and negotiating contracts within the framework of the budget.

During his two year term Paul would like to bring the school system through its current financial problems and begin to build a level of educational excellence that will provide our children with a quality education that will give them the opportunity to succeed.

Please give Paul the opportunity to continue to serve you by casting your vote for him on April 17.

McCoy seeks selectman's seat

Today, I formally announce my candidacy for the position of town selectman. Last year, we were only 92 votes from victory. This year, many of you urged me to seek the office of selectman once again because you felt that I represented the people's interest versus the special interest. Therefore, I seek this office with an understanding of the demands and a clear vision of how I believe Wilmington should proceed in the months and years to come.

As you all know, these are tough and difficult economical times and we need someone who will take the time, to listen, and to care how you feel and how your tax dollars are spent. I feel I am that person. I understand that people are having trouble paying bills, sending their children to college, and just trying to make ends meet. I know and feel your frustration. We need to make it better. To make it better on a local level, we need to be wise on how we spend our tax dollar. For example, there is talk of sewerage the entire town, and if those plans ever become reality during these tough times when companies like Sweetheart close their doors and put Wilmington people out of work, and rumours like Textron Defense Systems are leaving Wilmington, the town could find itself bankrupt unless there is leadership that can deal with these problems. I feel I have these credentials.

As a lifetime resident of Wilmington and a graduate of Wilmington Public Schools, The University of Lowell, and a holder of a Master's Degree, I believe I am educationally qualified for the post I seek. But education means nothing if it is not linked to a commitment to one's community.

As a member of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, The Sons of Italy, a member of the Tewksbury and Wilmington Elks, member of the Wilmington Town

Michael McCoy

Democratic Committee, and owner of a local business known as "Michael's Place," I have stayed committed to my community. It is this commitment I wish to expand through my role as your town selectman.

The last couple of years were the best years of my life. I was married to a wonderful girl named Danielle, we have a young son, and we are expecting our second child in August. I want my children to experience this great town as I have experienced it as a youth.

As the next few weeks before the election unfold, I hope to have the opportunity to talk with many of you in person about your concerns and my goals.

Together we can ensure a quality of life for ourselves and our children which will benefit all those who care about our community. This is my goal as selectman and my pledge to you as I begin my candidacy. I hope you give me the opportunity to serve you. I can think of no greater honor.

Thank you,
Michael McCoy

LAND COURT
DEPARTMENT OF THE TRIAL COURT*(SEAL)*CASE NO. 9260-S1993 01

To: Heirs, devisees and legal representatives of Blanche R. Whitehouse, now or formerly of Arlington, in the County of Middlesex, (South), Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

You are hereby notified that a complaint has been filed in this Court by Vincent R. Buscanera and Carol Ann Buscanera, of Tewksbury, in the County of Middlesex, (North), representing that:

1. Certificate of Title No. 3314 issued by the North Registry District of Middlesex County stands in the name of Blanche R. Whitehouse.

2. A Tax Taking by the Town of Tewksbury was registered as Document No. 37762 and noted on Certificate of Title No. 3314 on December 21, 1962.

3. Thereafter, an Affidavit of Low Value was registered as Document No. 43758 and noted on Certificate of Title No. 3314 on July 30, 1965.

4. A Treasurer's Deed under the provisions of G.L. c. 60, s. 79, as amended, running in favor of Robert J. Reagan and Ralph J. Senna, joint tenants as registered as Document No. 44598 and noted on Certificate of Title No. 3314 on November 24, 1965.

5. Robert J. Reagan and Ralph J. Senna conveyed to DeCarolis Construction Company Inc., by Deed dated October 17, 1967, registered as Document No. 48995 and was noted on Certificate of Title No. 3314 on October 17, 1967.

6. DeCarolis Construction Company Inc., conveyed to Gilbert V. DeCouto and Jeanne A. DeCouto, by deed dated March 28, 1968, registered as Document No. 49851 and was noted on Certificate of Title No. 3314 on March 28, 1968.

7. Gilbert V. DeCouto and Jeanne A. DeCouto conveyed to Vincent R. Buscanera and Carol Ann Buscanera, husband and wife, as tenants by the entirety, by deed dated November 26, 1971, and was registered as Document No. 58415 and noted on Certificate of Title No. 3314 on November 26, 1971.

Petitioner prays that said Certificate of Title No. 3314 be cancelled and a new Certificate of Title be issued to petitioners as owners, pursuant to law.

It is ORDERED: that a copy hereof be published once in the Town Crier, a newspaper published in said Tewksbury, and if you desire to make any objection or defense to said petition, you or your attorney must file a written appearance and an answer under oath setting forth clearly and specifically your objection or defense to each part of said petition in the office of the Recorder of this Court, in Boston, at the Suffolk County Courthouse, on or before the 22nd day of March 1993.

By the Court.

Recycling both hurts and helps Tewksbury rubbish situation

by Bill Conlon
Recycling is hurting the town and further trouble is coming.

The Tewksbury Recycling Committee heard on Tuesday that some 1700 to 1800 tons of trash will be recycled this fiscal year, up from the 1500 tons last year.

Town Manager David Cressman said the town fell some 1500 tons below its required minimum trash tonnage last year, but the North East Solid Waste Committee (or NESWC) refused to waive the minimum tonnage requirement.

In other words, the town must haul a specified tonnage of trash to NESWC's trash-to-energy incinerator in North Andover. The town is charge about $72 per ton, whether or not the trash is hauled. So, all the tons of rubbish being recycled are still being paid for, at $72 per ton.

Worse, towns like Dracut which have voluntary and largely ineffective recycling programs, are able to meet their required trash tonnage. Towns with successful recycling get penalized, committee members said, while those towns that are not recycling well escape the penalties.

However, the committee wanted it stressed that recycling should be continued, despite the problems. An assortment of avenues are being pursued to fix the problem, such as seeking a waiver to minimum tonnage and possibly state legislative actions.

Committee members also griped that NESWC is paying $30 to $45 per on the "spot market" for trash, while the 23 member communities in NESWC are charged upwards of $70 to $90 per ton.

Broadway Dance wins honors

Dancers from Tewksbury's Broadway Dance Academy (Director Cindy Conley) began their 1993 competition tour and returned as big winners from the Starpower Talent Competition and from the American Dance Spectrum Competition.

Thirty dance team members traveled to Springfield to participate in Starpower during February school vacation week. The dancers received top honors, competing with hundreds of dance schools from western Mass., New York and the Boston area.

In the primary tap division, the Broadway Babies competing for the first time received second place. In the junior jazz division, the Broadway Dance company received first place, high score and third overall high score. In the senior jazz division, the Broadway Dance Ensemble received first place, high score and a special award for precision. Jr. lyrical, second place and senior lyrical, first place and high score.

One week later, the dancers were bound for Manchester, N.H. where they once again swept top honors. The Babies received a silver medal and highest overall score for their jitterbug tap routine. A silver medal was also awarded to junior lyrical dancers Carissa Allan, Lindsay Dunham, Kristen La Monica and Christa Tomasi. Gold medals were awarded to the Broadway Dance Company for its jazz routine Crucified, Sr. lyrical dancers

Erich Simmons: "The sky is my limit, that's how I feel"

By KEN MAGUIRE

Just after reffing a soccer game last summer, 17-year-old Erich Simmons wiped his brow and headed over to the sideline to gather his things, meet his parents, and head home.

He stopped in his tracks, however, when he saw who his parents had brought along with them. It was a 2-year-old boy, son of a close friend, who had been born healthy, but limited to the use of just one full arm. The other extended only to the elbow, with just two fingers on the hand.

Immediately, thoughts ran through Erich's head. What is this kid going to go through? How will he adjust? What kinds of problems will he face? The kid doesn't even know that he will be looked upon differently from others.

But he thought again. He thought that it matters not what other people think, because the kid is special in his own right, and he'll be proud of his achievements in life. That's what he will tell this boy while he grows up, while he faces those pressures.

Erich Simmons will tell him that because he's already gone through all those emotions, all the pressures, all the pain. Erich has been there. He was born with his left arm extending only as far as the elbow. He too, like his young friend, has just two fingers on that hand.

"He's going to have to strive a lot harder than the others," Erich said, speaking about the boy, but seemingly reflecting on his own experiences as well. "But it's not the end of the world. The world is not all doom and gloom."

Not doom and gloom indeed, not for Erich, who is on the surface, the typical American kid. He takes part in sports, hangs out with his friends, dates girls and on occasion probably aggravates his parents - the typical teenager.

However, upon closer look, Erich does not seem that typical at all. Not because he physically looks a little different, but because he is simply not the average teenager. For instance, he's mature, responsible, and even dresses like he just stepped out of the pages of GQ.

Excelling is something Erich does well. He is currently the President of his Junior class at North Reading High, has set track records, and was recently nominated for the Middlesex Soccer League Referee of the Year. He won't let himself settle for anything less.

"The sky is my limit, that's how I feel," Erich said. "I've done just about everything I've wanted to do. I was able to adapt from an early age."

Adapting has been a cornerstone in Erich's life. It was in the first grade, Erich recalls, that he first realized he was different from the other kids. He put up with the teasing and moved on. A few years later, while on a trip to Disney World with his parents and younger sister, he really felt the pressure.

"There were a lot of people staring at me and it really bothered me," Erich said. "I had my hand in my pocket trying to hide it. But my parents said not to be ashamed of who I am."

Gary Simmons, Erich's father, said his son was going to have to fight every step of the way - and while he always

"Nope," I replied, "I generally use a roller, spray gun or brush."...Have you heard Tommy Flynn, the Irish tenor, sing Italian songs? Well, after singing Oh Marie, Sorrento and Oh Solo Mio, Tommy asked me, "Chips, what would you like to hear next?" I smiled and said, "I'd like to hear the sound of your feet walking out the door!" "What key is it in?" "Turkey," I replied, "that's what you sound like, Tommy."

Make sure your child receives all immunizations

As Melrose-Wakefield Hospital gears up to celebrate Children and Hospitals Week during the week of March 21-27, thoughts of how to keep children healthy and well are never far from our minds. One way to ensure a healthier child is to make sure your child receives all of his or her necessary immunizations.

Most parents do all they can to help their child stay healthy and avoid illness and injury. An important means of preventing disease is an active immunization program; this begins soon after birth and helps protect your child against life-threatening diseases.

"Minimally, every child should be protected from at least eight diseases by immunization," advises Dr. Scialabba.

"These eight include polio, measles, mumps, rubella, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis and hemophilus type B disease.

Immunizations against influenza are advised yearly for high risk groups, such as children with asthma, diabetes, heart defects, premature infants and the elderly; other vaccines may be necessary in special circumstances, such as when traveling overseas. Parents should ask their pediatrician for more guidance."

Recently, the American Academy of Pediatrics recommended that all infants born after January 1, 1992 be immunized against hepatitis B, a virus that may lead to chronic infection of the liver and serious disease, especially if it is acquired during infancy or childhood.

NEW MERCHANDISE ARRIVING WEEKLY

Second annual Songs for Supper by Treble Chorus

On Sunday, March 14, at 4 p.m., four classically-trained choruses will join the Treble Chorus of New England to raise their voices in song at the second annual Songs for Suppers Concert to benefit both the Greater Boston Food Bank and the Treble Chorus of New England scholarship fund.

The performers are the Treble Chorus of New England, All Saints Church Youth Choir of Brookline, Centre Church Youth Choir of Lynnfield and Union Congregational Church Youth Choir of North Reading. The concert will take place at the Church of the Advent, 30 Brimmer Street, Boston.

Marie Stultzo of North Reading, Artistic Director of the Treble Chorus, will lead the singers in performance of Missa Brevis in D of Britten, Four Songs of opus 17 for French Horn and Harp of Brahms, Friday Afternoons of Britten and Liebeslieder Waltzes of Brahms.

The Greater Boston Food Bank is New England's largest domestic relief organization. It is a non-profit clearinghouse for foods donated by the private sector with 16 full-time staff members and more than 250 volunteers each month. For every dollar received the Greater Boston Food Bank distributes $40 worth of food.

Admission is $12 for everyone, plus a can of coffee. For tickets, call the Treble Chorus of New England, (508) 664-4705, or purchase them at the door. The Treble Chorus of New England and The Greater Boston Food Bank are non-profit organizations. This concert is sponsored in part by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency.

About the Towns

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

"About The Towns" covers recent events in the 13-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper for up-to-date information about your city or town. We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About The Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

WAKEFIELD POLICE FOLLOW NORTHSTAR - The Wakefield Police Department recently welcomed the donation of a four-wheel drive pick-up truck and attachable trailer which came by way of "Operation Northstar," a government program which provides decommissioned military equipment to all levels of law enforcement.

Following up on information about the program, Officer Ronald LeBlanc alerted Chief Stephen Doherty to the program and both were instrumental in the equipment acquisition.

Even more material may be coming. The department has put in other requests at Ft. Devens in Ayer where a stockpile of equipment has been accumulating for two years.

WILMINGTON CONSIDERS 26 ARTICLES - Of the 26 articles included in Wilmington's April 24th Town Meeting warrant, two seek to lift deed restrictions, four ask appropriation approval for various veterans' clubhouses and the observance of Memorial and Veteran's Days, five deal with rezoning, 11 are for the purchase or transfer of town-owned land.

Anne Linehan has submitted an amendment to Wilmington's recall law requiring that "substantiated evidence of alleged allegations accompany grounds for recall of any elected official. Christos Eliopoulos has asked voters to amend the zoning bylaw to allow limited seating - up to 20 seats - in establishments classified as sandwich shops. And Robert LaRivee has asked voters to approve the filing of a petition in General Court for an act relative to Reduction in Ranks for public employees in Wilmington. That act relates to permanent police force employees.

MELROSE RECYCLING MIGHT RUN ON BATTERIES

The Melrose Recycling Committee is exploring new programs for batteries, aseptic packaging, hy-cone plastic rings, and office paper.

It currently oversees the recycling of plastics, #1 PETE and #2 HDPE, NYNEX phone books, and tires.

All Melrose residents are welcome to join the group and the effort. For more information, contact Linda Benezra at (617) 662-6253.

NORTH READING MAY ELECT HILLVIEW BOARD - North Reading's town-owned Hillview Country Club may soon have an elected rather than appointed board of commissioners. Or not.

Voting by secret ballot, Town Meeting placed the power of choice in voters' hands rather than with the Board of Selectmen who have been appointing commission members. However, Selectmen Chair Gerald Venezia is challenging that vote, calling it contrary to the charter which would first have to be changed to allow the election.

Meanwhile, those who would seek to serve on the golf club board must submit nomination papers - and stand forewarned.

MELROSE RETIRED MEN WANT NOTHING FROM YOU - The Melrose Retired Men's Club extends a warm invitation to anyone interested in joining the club which meets on the first and third Wednesdays of each month except July and August.

Doors open at 9 a.m. with coffee, doughnuts, conversation and song. Meetings begin at 10:30 a.m. with a salute to the flag, patriotic song, handshakes, well wishes, correspondence, news, guest speakers, and whatever "the pleasure of the body is."

The club meets at the Baptist Church opposite City Hall on the lower floor through the side door. For more information, contact President Guido DellaPiano.

The best part of all, he says, except for the friendship and security extended, is that the club is free.

Erich Simmons

encouraged him, he never gave his son the kind of special treatment one might expect. He said he and his wife, Dianne, never tried to spoil Erich.

"I knew from day one, that the world was not going to adjust to him," Gary said. "Therefore, we didn't make any exceptions. We were probably criticized, but the proof is in the pudding."

Erich recalls being about ten years old and sitting up in his bedroom at night, asking himself "why me?" But with the help of family and friends, he got through that stage and learned from it. "It made me mature much faster than other kids."

"Today, Erich would rather see people be happy with themselves, instead of complaining. 'It really gets me upset. Be thankful for what you have. You have to get over that step and be proud of who you are.'"

A strong family is no doubt the backbone of Erich's development. Erich's parents have always maintained that they would not treat him differently than any other parent would treat their child.

They confirmed this belief a few years ago when they went to a local meeting of a support group, where they met many families in similar situations as theirs. What they found was that Erich and the others were treated differently, with good intentions, but given preferential treatment.

Erich is the independent, mature young man he is today, because he was not given that kind of treatment, his parents feel. They do, however, feel that support groups can be helpful, just not in their particular case.

Another vital ingredient in Erich's family is humor. As long as they can laugh about life, things are a little easier. Difficult situations become not so difficult. A couple of years ago, Erich broke his right elbow while playing hockey.

"Think about it," says a smiling Erich, "you have one hand and you break your elbow. I was in a cast for two weeks."

Another time, Erich thought about it and decided that he would try out an artificial arm, one that attaches and detaches from the elbow. "It was like picking out a sofa," Dianne said, with a laugh. Added Erich, "You have to keep your sense of humor."

Incidentally, Erich said he has only used the artificial arm a few times, once was for a prom. "It's only for show," he said. "It sits on my shelf."

Injuries are something all parents worry about, and Erich's are no exceptions. Dianne said she used to be really scared when Erich would take up sports, but as he's grown older, she doesn't worry as much.

When Erich was younger and took up cycling, which is still one of his favorite sports, his mother wanted to adjust the seat and handlebars to make it easier to control, but Gary would have none of it, no special treatment. It worked out, and Erich has only had that one setback.

Sports have been a major force in Erich's life. He's played just about every sport there is, and has excelled in them as well. He said soccer is his favorite, but track and field is running a close second. His senior year awaits and he's already set the 3,200-meter record in indoor track.

In the summer, he spends his free time in New Hampshire, water skiing as much as possible. When he's not water skiing, he's running his own landscaping company back in North Reading. This winter, he went snow skiing for the first time. "I went right to the top."

He has also played baseball in his younger days, and idolizes New York Yankees pitcher Jim Abbott, who is physically much the same as Erich. He was able to get an autographed card last year and makes sure it's kept in a safe place.

Erich said there is one thing he would like to do in life, but is unsure if it will ever happen, and it's not in the physical sense.

"If there was one thing I could do, I'd erase the word handicap," Erich said. "That person has other skills that we don't. I've lived this life, I know."

In school, Erich said he sometimes sees kids making fun of others, especially the younger ones just coming into the school. He said it is impossible to judge someone that you've never met.

"I see kids ridiculing others," Erich said. "How do you know about a person you've never met? There is something special about everyone. Some of them don't even listen to that, but that's what I always tell them."

For the future, Erich wants to go to college, but is unsure about where it will be. He referred in a tournament at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst last summer, and said he enjoyed the area and loved the campus.

For now, Erich will continue being a not-so-typical American kid. "I'll always referee. I love to do it and it's about $15-25 per game, which is less than two hours. It's almost like it's too good to be true." Maybe so, other kids get about $5 per hour to work in fast food joints.

The Idaho potato growers refused to have Walter Cronkite as the keynote speaker at their annual convention because he is a "common-tater."...My wife, Kathy, is bowlegged and I'm knock-kneed so when we're walking toward you, we look like two "quotation marks."...I came home from work and found Kathy in tears. She said that she had cooked a fish dinner and the cat ate it. I tried my best to calm her down by saying "Don't worry about it dear. I can always get you another cat."... "Eat your carrots!" Mrs. Tully told her son, Dennis. "They are good for your eyesight, dear." "If it's all the same to you, Ma," Dennis replied, "I'll use a flashlight!"

For weeks Bobby Burns and his lovely wife, Martha, went from showroom to showroom as Bob inspected all the new cars. Even after looking under the hoods of most of the autos and kicking the tires and trying the seats for comfort and the many gadgets, Bob still couldn't make up his mind on which car to buy. Martha, in exasperation, exclaimed, "My how you've changed! You married me three weeks after you met me!" "Yeah, I know, Dear," Bob replied, "but, buying a car is 'serious' business."

A White House guard stopped Jack Benny and asked, "Mr. Benny, what's in that package that you have under your arm?"

AN EVENING WITH THOMAS JEFFERSON

"An Evening with Thomas Jefferson," a living history presentation addressing the topic "Why should we build ships like USS Constitution?" will be held on Thursday, March 25, at 6:30 p.m., at the USS Constitution Museum, Boston National Historical Park, Charlestown Navy Yard, Boston.

Admission: general public $7, museum members $5. Price includes admission to museum. Tickets available in advance by phone or at the museum. For more information, call the museum's education department at (617) 426-1812.

HEALTHY APPROACH TO MENOPAUSE

"Take a Healthy Approach to Menopause," a new lecture series at New England Memorial Hospital, will lead off with a presentation on "Hormone Replacement: Necessary or Not?" on Thursday, March 18 at 7 p.m. Dr. Roy Epstein will speak on the benefits and risks associated with hormone replacement therapy.

Critics of hormone replacement therapy say that menopause is a natural process and should not be treated as an illness. Proponents argue that estrogen depletion in menopausal and post-menopausal women seriously increases the risk of heart disease and osteoporosis. They view hormone replacement as a viable means of counteracting such risks.

Dr. Epstein will present an overview of the issues surrounding hormone replacement. He will review the types of hormone therapy now available to women and who best benefits from them. Although there are clear advantages to treatment for many women, there are those who would best avoid it. For example, women who have had breast cancer or tumors that are estrogen dependent would not be appropriate candidates for the hormone therapy.

Dr. Epstein is board certified in obstetrics and gynecology. A question and answer period will follow the lecture scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. in the hospital's function rooms, located off the cafeteria.

The series continues on Thursday, April 8, at 7 p.m. when Dr. Lynne Burton will speak on "Taking Steps Against Osteoporosis."

These lectures are free and open to the public, however it is advisable to call (617) 979-7016 to reserve a seat.

ANTIQUESHOW AT TEMPLE SHALOM

Temple Shalom, Medford Jewish Community Center, is please to announce the third annual Herbert L. Siegal Memorial Antique Show to be held March 21 at Temple Shalom, 475 Winthrop St. (Rte. 38), Medford.

Mr. Siegal was the co-founder of Olde Mystic Antique Shows and a long standing member of Temple Shalom. The show will be under the direction of his partner, Carl R. Toltz.

The entire proceeds will be donated to the Temple in memory of Mr. Siegal. For information call (617) 396-3262.

SUPERMARKET SMARTS EATING HEALTHY

If eating healthy is a main concern, stop by Market Basket in Wilmington and talk to someone who knows about nutrition.

Julie Daly, Registered Dietitian from the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center, will be available at Market Basket in Wilmington from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on March 17, 22 and 30 to give shoppers label reading tips and answer questions on nutrition topics.

This is a free service. For more information call (617) 756-2220.

A Pre-School Learn to Skate program lasting five weeks for ages 3 to 6 years old will be held at the Ristuccia Expo, 190 Main Street, Wilmington.

For more information contact Julie Giangregorio at (508) 657-3976.

TAKE CONTROL OF MEDICAL DECISIONS

Melrose-Wakefield Hospital will be offering a unique seminar on Tuesday, March 23. The seminar, Advance Directives: The Health Care Proxy, will instruct individuals about the Health Care Proxy, a simple legal document which allows an individual to appoint someone to make health care decisions for his or herself in the event that he or she is unable to do so.

Advance Directives: The Health Care Proxy will be held at 10 a.m. in Perkins Lecture hall at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital in Melrose. Special guest Ruth Grabel, Director of Project Be Aware of the Medical Foundation, will be on hand to answer questions, and to help individuals prepare a Health Care Proxy. There is no fee for this seminar. For additional information or to register for Advance Directives: The Health Care Proxy, please call (617) 979-3090.

Jack said, "A machine gun!" "Oh! In that case," the guard said, "go right in. I was afraid you might have your violin with you." My Uncle John Shea made a fortune in his semi-annual "Going Out of Business Sales."

Retired Judge John MacLeod is a dear friend of the family. He looked stern, strict and stoic when on the "Bench" but he was, in fact, a warm compassionate jurist. He always tried for reconciliation in divorce suits, so when my Aunt Nora sued for divorce he asked, "Nora, what 'grounds' do you have?" "Two and a half acres," she replied. "Do you have a 'grudge'?" "No, your honor, I have a carport." "Does your husband, Angelo, 'beat' you up?" "No Sir, I get up an hour before he does." Judge MacLeod almost lost his cool but he ventured on asking, "Nora, what is the principal reason for these proceedings?" "My husband swears at me when he's sleeping." Just like a Jack in the Box, Uncle Angelo jumped up from his seat and shouted, "Who the heck was sleeping?"

Folks, you may see me at Horn Pond ice fishing. I take a little saw with me and a small bag of peas and a kid's baseball bat. I cut a hole in the ice, then put peas around the edge of the hole and wait. When a fish comes up for a pea, "Wham!" I hit it over the head with the baseball bat...The owner of a Reading candy store couldn't help noticing that with three beautiful young women clerks many customers preferred to be served by Maureen. The owner called her aside one day and asked what the secret of her success was. She smile and said,

"When someone wants a pound of candy, the other girls scoop up more than a pound and put it on the scale, then take away candy until it's a pound. I, instead, put less and add until it's exactly a pound. Some people feel cheated if candy is taken away."

To enter, send ONE original poem, any subject and any style, to the National Library of Poetry, 11419 Cronridge Dr., P.O. Box 704-XJ, Owings Mills, MD 21117. The poem should be no more than twenty lines, and the poet's name and address should appear on the top of the page. Entries must be postmarked by March 31. A new contest opens April 1.

BUSINESSWOMEN'S NETWORK TO MEET

The Homebased Businesswomen's Network, Inc. will hold its next meeting on Friday, March 15, at the Village Green Restaurant, Rte. One North, Danvers, at 8:30 a.m.

The topic for the March meeting is "Balancing Family and Business" with speaker Valerie McCaffrey. Mrs. McCaffrey, who lives in Beverly Farms, is co-owner of Veronica Dengel Cosmetics, a direct mail cosmetic company. In addition, she is a well-known speaker on Image Management and Family Matters.

HBN, Inc., in existence for 11 years, meets monthly and provides resources, information, and support to people with homebased businesses. Guests are welcome at all meetings. There is a $10 fee for guests. For more information, call Sharon McClory at (508) 532-4166.

"ALWAYS RUNNING" AT BUNKER HILL

Luis J. Rodriguez, the author of "Always Running," will appear at Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC) in Boston on Thursday, March 11, at 10 a.m. in A-300. The public is invited to attend.

"Always Running," which was published in February is a dramatic account of Mr. Rodriguez's life as a gang member during the late 60s and 70s. It deals with issues ranging from his relationship with his son, a 15-year old gang member, his struggle with racism, drugs and violence to his emergence as a journalist, critic and award winning poet.

For more information, contact Lucy Lui at BHCC at (617) 241-8600, Ext. 208.

Swing Kids

"Swing Kids" Starring Robert Sean Leonard, Christian Bale, Frank Whaley, Kenneth Branagh. Directed by Thomas Carter. Written by Jonathan Marc Feldman. Produced by Mark Gordon, John Bard Manulus. Rated PG-13.

Though he plays a prominent role in "Swing Kids," there is probably a very good reason Kenneth Branagh's name is nowhere to be found, either in the credits or in the press material. He must have seen it.

You really have to wonder why someone thought the Hollywood movie machine would be capable of producing a decent movie about the age of Swing inside Nazi Germany. Hollywood likes feel-good movies, and this is not an uplifting subject. Had an independent filmmaker taken such an unusual slice of history and told a gritty little story, the movie may have been off-beat and compelling instead of shallow and insipid.

Based on an actual faction of teenagers who went against the repressiveness in Germany as Hitler came to power, the movie wastes a lot of time telling us what we already know -- the Nazis were evil and controlling. Filling in some detail about the group of friends who made up this circle Swing Kids might have made us care about their fate.

At the nucleus of the plot is Robert Sean Leonard and Christian Bale as best friends who want nothing more than to don their Anglophile wardrobes, dance to contraband records and spout trite dialogue. But the Nazis, led by a refined, soft spoken Kenneth Branagh, prefer their young people to wear uniforms and learn the party line. When Leonard is caught committing a crime, he is coerced into joining the Hitler Youth. Best friend Bale joins in sympathy, but begins to believe his daily dose of propaganda. Leonard manages to tread treacle and come out of this fiasco relatively unscathed, but Bale's sometimes whiny performance gives us no reason to care about his motives.

Perhaps the most interesting character is the crippled musician Arvid, played with a believable anger and melancholy by Frank Whaley. The one least able to rebel against the obvious horrors around him, he is the only member of the group with any real courage. Whaley's response to a brutal political climate resonates with sadness, while Leonard's is laughable, melodramatic and meaningless.

The script is lightweight and odd, but first time feature film director Thomas Carter especially bungled by underscoring its weaknesses. Someone obviously tried to repair it, because trailers appeared last summer, disappeared, then reappeared a couple of months ago with scenes not even in the movie. Carter fared best with the lively dance scenes, which are joyous and bouncy. The movie also has a lively score and a strong supporting performance from Barbara Hershey. Even Branagh need not have been embarrassed by his performance. But that ending is enough to make anyone cringe and erase their name from the credits.

Short Takes

Falling Down is a nasty and controversial tale of white urban anger in which nerdy Michael Douglas stomps on anyone who annoys him. He may right a few wrongs along the way, but much of his venom is dipped in paranoia and racism. An ugly, ugly film. Rated R. *

Mad Dog and Glory teams mild mannered cop Robert De Niro with complicated gangster/comedian Bill Murray. Uma Thurman is the woman who Murray tosses to De Niro, then wants back. Characterization and very strong performances are the film's best points. The plot is uneven, but still manages to charm. Rated R. ***

Army of Darkness is a funky, funny Sam Raimi ("Darkman") concoction in which dumb hunk Bruce Campbell falls into a time warp and emerges in the 13th Century. There he uses his chainsaw and agility to fight an army of Deadites that looks like it marched right out of a 1950's matinee. Goofy, but fun. Rated R.  1/2

The Crying Game is a twisting, turning action romance that defies conventional movie mores. What begins as a movie about IRA terrorists takes you on a journey that flows seamlessly from one genre into another, surprising and delighting along the way. There's good reason people are chattering about this film, as audiences are seldom treated to such originality. Rated R. ****

Untamed Heart is an appealing old-fashioned sudser of a romance given lots of conviction by waitress Maria Tomei and the busboy she falls for (Christian Slater). Rosie Perez is the comic relief in this girl meets boy story. The dialogue sometimes sounds a little scripted, but the performances really pull at your heartstrings. Rated PG-13. ***

The Cemetery Club is the sticky story of three widows who must adjust to the single life. Simplistic and pandering as the plot is, the movie is greatly improved by actresses who deserve better: Ellen Burstyn, Olympia Dukakis and Diana Ladd. Rated PG-13. **

Sommersby is an emotionally rich and eye-pleasing Civil War romance in which plantation owner Richard Gere returns to his wife Jodie Foster a changed man. In fact, he may not even be the same man. Powerful, sweeping and memorable, this is a throw back to Hollywood's epic past and shouldn't be missed. Rated PG-13. ****

Alive is the true story of a soccer team's plane that crashed in the Andes in 1972 and those who lived to tell about it. Sensitive and technically appealing, the film relies too much on the action/adventure aspects of the young athletes' survival. It may capture the glories of nature in all its terrible beauty, but we are left longing for more of the psychological glue that kept these people together. Rated R. ***

Used People is a disarming tale of a tough Jewish family, lead by recently widowed matriarch Shirley MacLaine, that is coaxed into taking a chance on happiness by gregarious Marcello Mastroianni. This warm and funny flick may be a bit too sentimental, but you won't mind, as the acting is top notch and the dialogue sharp and witty. Rated PG-13. ***

Scent of a Woman gives Al Pacino a chance to knock our socks off as a blind army veteran who hires an unwilling prep school student (BC student Chris O'Donnell) to guide him around New York City for one wild weekend. The story unfolds in typical Hollywood fashion, but go to see Pacino's performance, you won't be disappointed. His fine acting and some clever language save it from being too precious. Rated R. ***

A Few Good Men is a powerful drama set in a military courtroom starring Tom Cruise, Demi Moore and Jack Nicholson. In spite of rather uneven pacing, this movie is packed with strong performances and a dynamite ending. It also manages to sidestep numerous stereotypes as it builds layered and believable characters. Rated R.  1/2

Aladdin may not be a Disney classic, but it is a lot of fun, Robin Williams' witty performance as a big blue genie is a non-stop vaudevillian act, as he hurls jokes to the kiddies before flinging others at their parents. The music may not blow you away and the animation is less than lush, but the rat-a-tat humor and strong characters make this a success. Rated G.  1/2

HIP TO ALL THINGS AMERICAN AND BRITISH—especially the Big Band music of the 1930s — a brave group of German teenagers, known as swing kids, including (l to r) Thomas (Christian Bale), Peter (Robert Sean Leonard), Arvid (Frank Whaley) and Otto (Jayce Bartok) dare to disobey the political machine and fight for the freedom to march to the beat of a different drummer, in Hollywood Pictures' new drama with music, "Swing Kids." Barbara Hershey also stars.

READING SCHOOLS MEAN BUSINESS - In its efforts to combine the talents of the business, parent and educational communities for the benefit of the young people heading toward them, the Reading School - Business Partnership is looking for volunteers in several areas.

You don't have to be from or work in Reading to participate in any of the following programs: brown bag speaker series at Reading Memorial High; middle school Junior Achievement programs and career awareness days; or high school business education department work site development.

Other opportunities include mentoring and sharing hobby, business or even interviewing expertise with students.

Any contribution - time or money - is welcome.

For more information, contact Reading Superintendent of Schools Dr. Robert Munnely at (617) 944-5800, Reading High Principal Rena Mirkin, Parker Middle School Principal Dr. Jack Delaney, or any other members of the Reading School - Business Partnership Steering Committee: Gail Cerra, Joe Cerretani, Noreen Conlon, Vinny Gatto, Paul Graveline, Elia Marnik, or Tom Meharg.

PLAY BINGO FOR THE MELROSE HIGH BAND - The Melrose High Bandaiders sponsor bingo every Tuesday at Lt. Norman Prince, Jr. VFW Hall, 428 Main Street, Melrose.

Doors open early and early bird specials start at 7 p.m. "Bonus 300" as well as all the traditional games are featured - along with refreshments.

NORTH READING STUDENTS STAY ON THEIR TOES - North Atlantic Ballet Company members Skip Warren and Edra Toth recently introduced North Reading's Hood Elementary School students to ballet - in concept and on stage.

After explaining the history of and vocabulary used in ballet, Warren and Toth demonstrated that dancers must be artists, actors and athletes. As part of the program, the dancers - with the help of students - demonstrated various techniques used in performing selections from the ballets "Le Corsair," "Coppelia" and "Spring Waters."

The program was funded in part by the Hood School Parents' Association and the Massachusetts Arts Lottery as administered by the North Reading Arts Council.

WILMINGTON JOINS SPACE RACE - Because of lack of space in two elementary school buildings in particular, the Wilmington School Committee has formed a space needs subcommittee to scope out the problem. The subcommittee, which plans several meetings and public hearings on the issue, is looking for the best way to remedy a critical situation.

Space is tight in Malden also, where Superintendent of Schools George Holland has indicated that it might be necessary to refurbish two existing schools to house middle school students or build an entirely new second middle school.

Reading's School Building Committee has been meeting, planning and studying for three years now and is still going strong.

WAKEFIELD BUDGET GETS PERSONAL - Almost half of the proposed $934,000 increase (not including capital outlay) in Wakefield Superintendent of Schools Dr. Stephen Maio's rough draft 1993-94 budget was in the personal services account, according to the Wakefield edition of the Daily Times Chronicle.

Requests there include: one high school and two-and-a-half elementary school teachers, teacher workshops, a .5 Drug Abuse Resistance Officer, a high school guidance counselor, and a business office clerk.

IS ANYTHING WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE? "During the performance, several students received hands on experience when they were invited on stage to help demonstrate different ballet techniques."

Visiting Nurses offer Wellness Service for adults

The Melrose Visiting Nurse Service has introduced a new Adult Wellness Service. The new service grew out of the MVNS Senior Health Guidance Clinics held every other month at the First Baptist Church, Melrose, in conjunction with the Melrose Council on Aging.

The new service will continue to offer blood pressure readings, an overall health review, and the opportunity for people to ask health-related questions of MVNS registered nurses, on the second Thursday of January, March, May, July, September and November.

Starting on March 11, the new service will officially open to all adults, not just seniors. It will focus on health in terms of wellness -- how comfortably people can perform certain activities of daily living, as well as how they feel. It will also include informal presentations and discussions on pertinent topics, such as medications, exercise, nutrition.

For more information about the Melrose Visiting Nurse Service or its Adult Wellness Service or Well Child Health Service, call the MVNS office at (617) 665-4800.

Lynnfield Community Church offers hypnosis therapy

Hypnosis Therapy Clinic with Hypnotherapist E.S. Ferri meets every Thursday evening at the Lynnfield Community Church, 735 Salem St. Weekly sessions will be held according to the following schedule:

6-7 p.m. - End Smoking. Goals of participation will eliminate withdrawal symptoms, avoid irritability, and quit smoking, permanently.

7-8 p.m. - Weight Loss. Goals of participation will end poor eating habits, make a lifestyle change, and lose those unwanted pounds permanently.

8-9 p.m. - Stress and Anxiety. Goals of participation will be to eliminate unwanted feelings, remove stress, change your attitude about stress, learn to invoke the "Relaxation Response" and learn Self-Hypnosis Technique.

Registration is $15. Continuous weekly sessions are $10. Private sessions are available to address other matters.

Mr. Ferri is a graduate of the National Institute of Hypnosis, where he was the protege of Alvin P. DelRossi. His professional associations include the American Society of Research and Clinical Hypnotist.

Community Concerts presents Travelin' Light

Travelin' Light, a classic jazz quartet, featuring tuba virtuoso player Sam Pilafian, will appear at the Stoneham High School on March 17, at 7:45 p.m. sponsored by the Greater Stoneham Community Concert Association. With Pilafian will be Frank Vignola, on guitar and banjo, Joe Ascione, snare drum and Don Keiling, rhythm guitar and vocals.

Travelin' Light brings a unique sound to the concert hall as it plays jazz that ranges from classics like Sweet George Brown and When You're Smiling to absolutely new and original songs.

This show will surely become a nostalgic delight to the oldsters in the audience who grew up in the 20s, 30s and 40s while modern classic jazz developed from the earlier ragtime and blues period. Our modern baby-boomers and young people of today will enjoy the music history lesson from the earlier time before their births, of music which predated today's popular rock an' roll groups.

Since the release of the Telarc International hit recording of Travelin' Light, the group has been featured on many radio shows, including the Studs Terkel and Roy Leonard Shows in Chicago, New York's Around New York on WNYC and CBC's Stereo Morning as well as on the Arts and Entertainment Cable TV Channel.

Sam grew up in Miami's jazz world, where he played regularly with jazz musicians, and studied with trumpeter Phil Napoleon. But Sam also studied classical music and one day an invitation from Leonard Bernstein to play in the World Premiere production of his Mass changed things: the die was cast, and Sam moved from the world of jazz to the classical music scene. The Empire Brass was founded by Pilafian soon afterwards.

One day the Empire Brass players were recording a collection of jazz tunes for Telarc records; the sessions finished early and the idea came up to make a smaller jazz album with Pilafian as leader and with Frank Vignola on guitar. Travelin' Light was born, and with it came a unique sound that was completely new in the jazz world. Sam's traveling companions have also played with jazz greats like Milton Hinton and Jon Hendricks and many others.

Frank Vignola takes his major influence from the legendary gypsy guitarist Django Reinhardt, founder of the celebrated group, The Hot Club of France.

A peek at the printed program reveals that the audience will enjoy "A foot-tapping, finger-snapping, guided tour of the world capitals of jazz -- from New Orleans to Kansas City to New York to Paris" with the music of Louis Armstrong, Jelly Roll Morton, Fats Waller, Duke Ellington and the great Count Basie, and some new tunes in the classic styles.
